

Super Finals airing live

All eight of tomorrow night's $300,000 Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) Super Finals from Woodbine will be aired live during a special three-hour edition of Race Night on The Score.

The show will go to air at 8 p.m., and the Race Night crew are planning to have a slew of feature segments to complement the $2.4-million event.

Horseman Wayne Henry — who trains, drives and co-owns two-year-old trotting filly Tymal Timeout — will discuss both the youngster's success this season and his family-run operation.

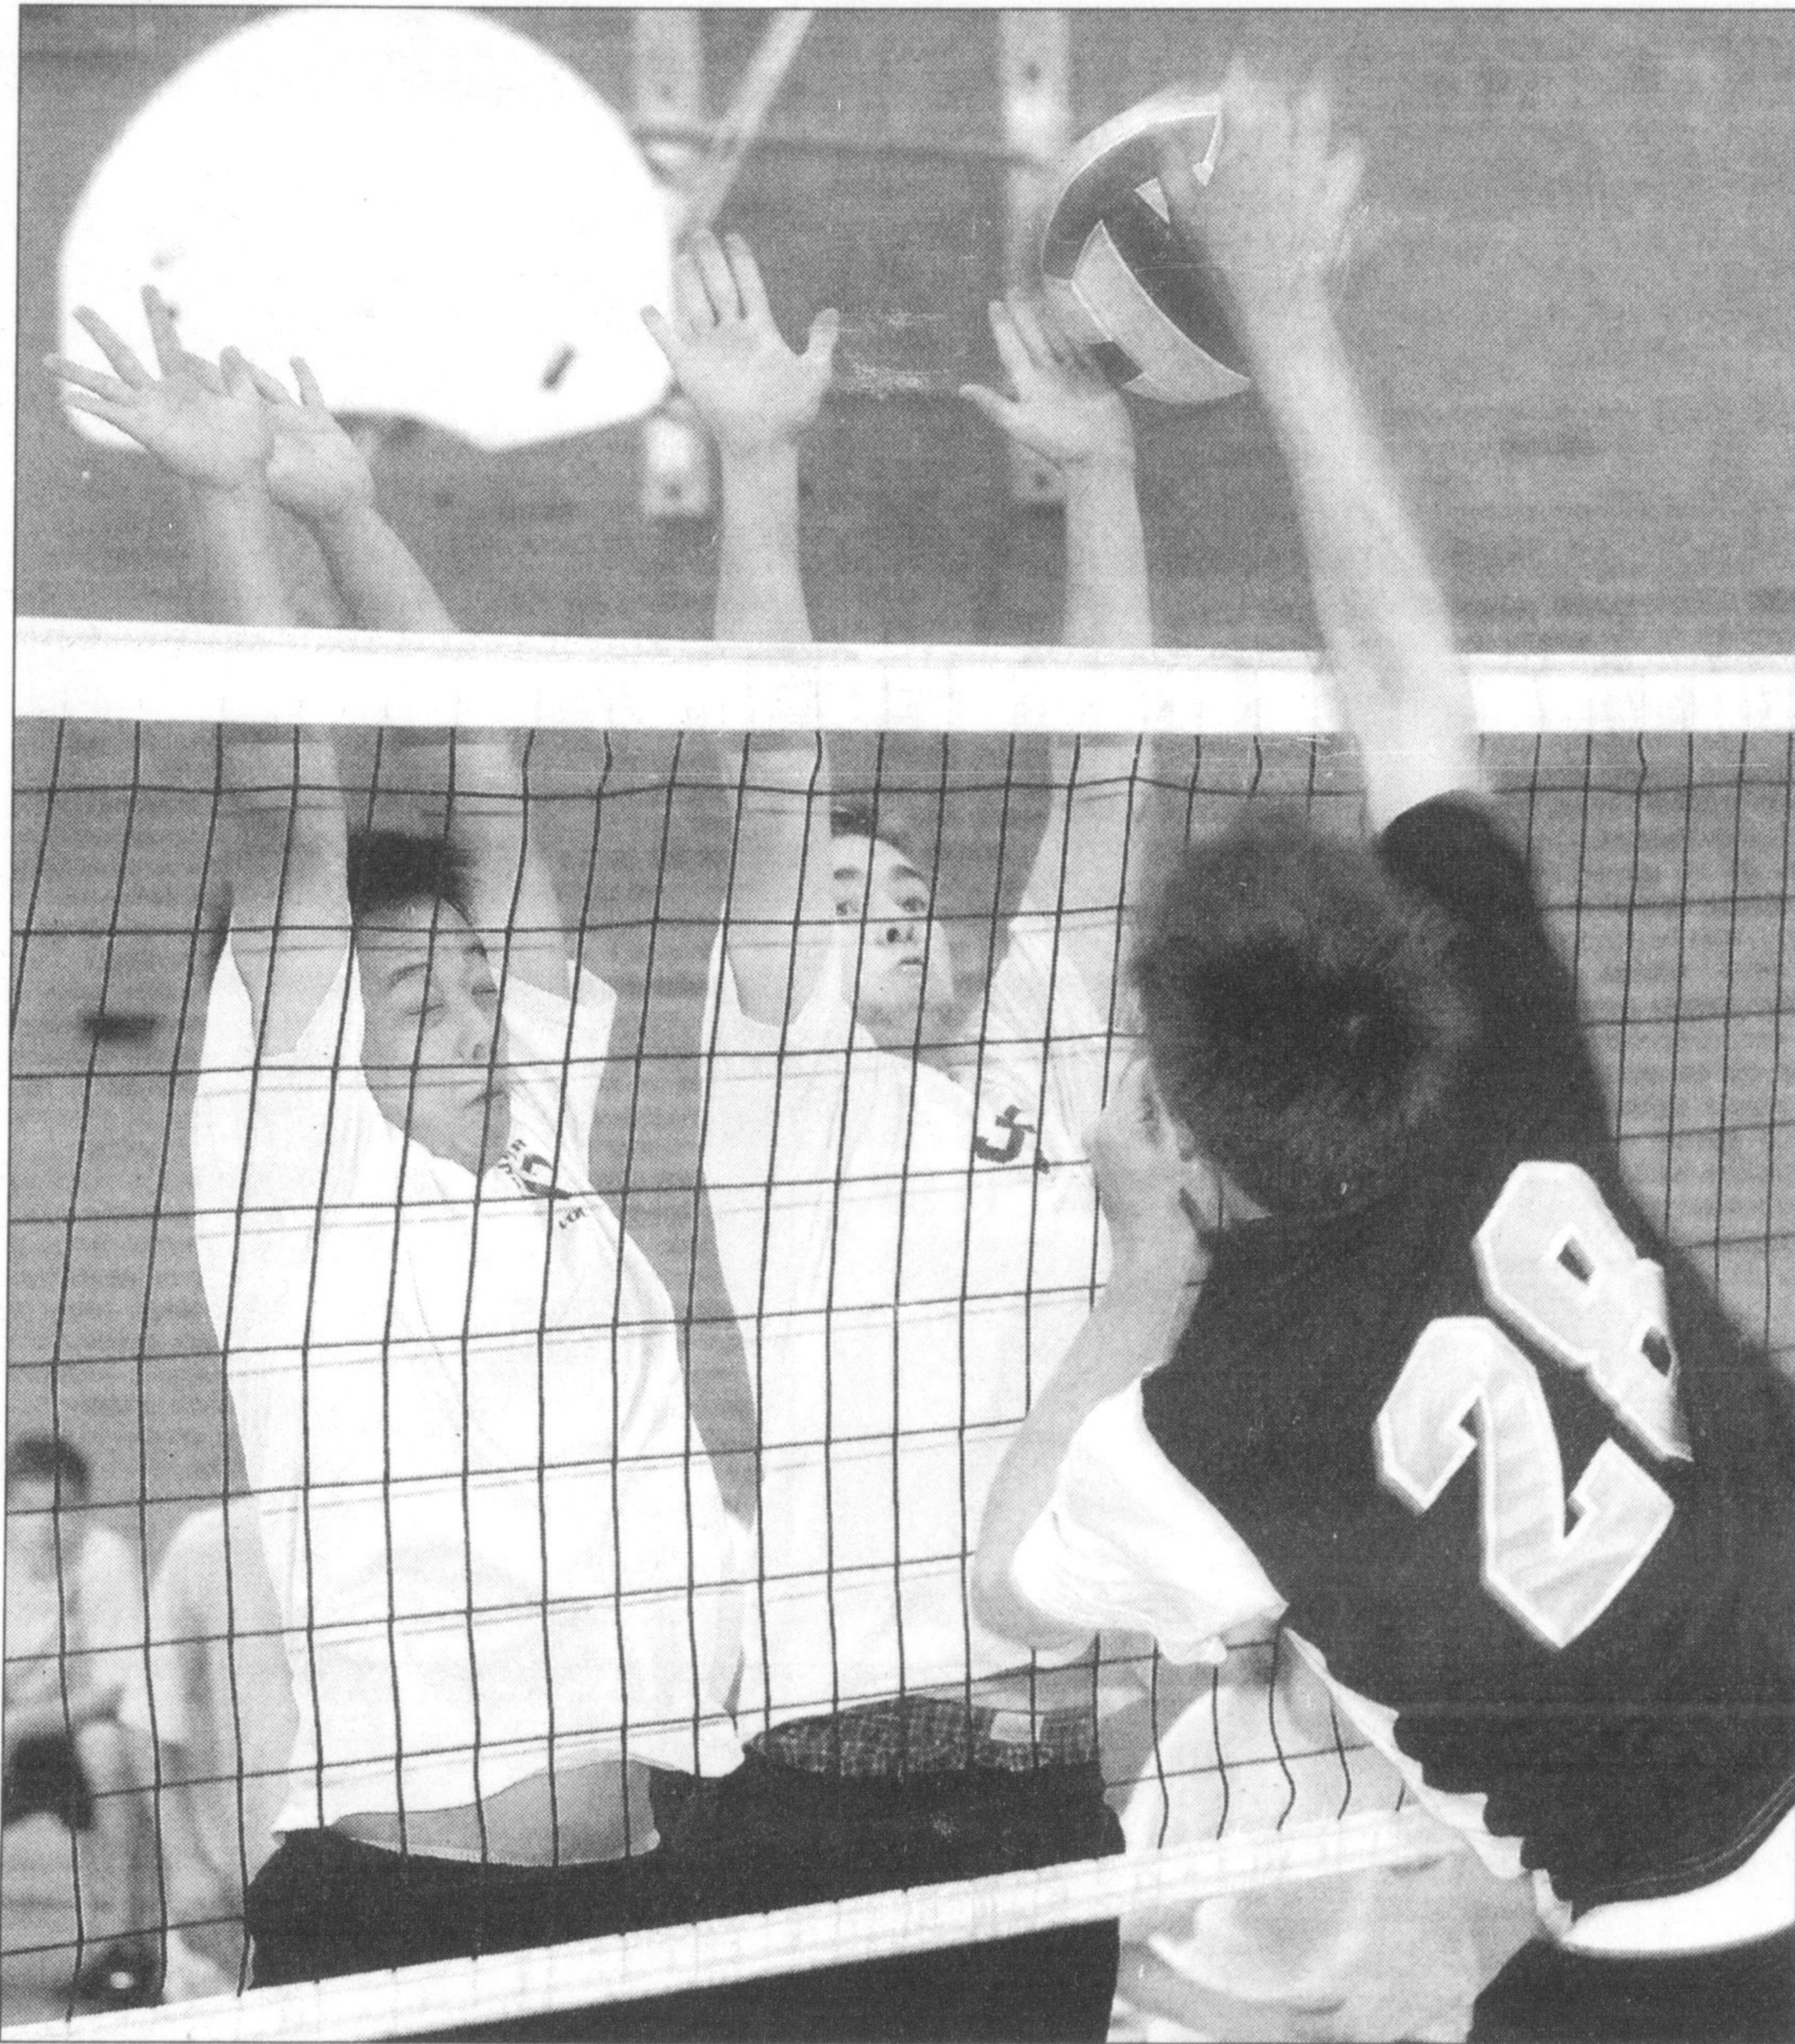

Trainer Carl Jamieson, a perennial powerhouse on the OSS circuit, will talk about his slate of entries, including Warrawee Ideal — his two-year-old pace colt, which has already won the 2006 Battle Of Waterloo and a division of the Nassagaweya Stakes.

In the three-year-old trotting filly division, the Race Night crew caught up with Jerry VanBoekel, one of Pure Ivory's owners, who will talk about his filly's big year after having earned over half-a-million in purses so far.

From the 'glamour boy' division, trainer Gregg McNair will discuss his colt's chances as Eagle Luck will leave from post nine and compete against the likes of Doonbeg and Mr. Feelgood, the 2006 Little Brown Jug winner.

Also, track announcer Ken Middleton will take a trip down memory lane with his top five Super Finals.

Bantams to host Montreal team

Milton's AA bantams have fairly high hopes this season, and will test their potential against one of their neighbouring province's top teams tomorrow afternoon.

Coming off a solid tournament showing last weekend in Georgetown — where they reached the semifinals — the Winterhawks will play host to Montreal's Lake Shore Panthers at Milton Sports Centre's Rink A, starting at 3 p.m.

Coached by a former Burlington resident, the Panthers are ranked third in Quebec's 'BB' loop, which is considered the equivalent of 'AA' hockey in Ontario.

Eliminated in the OMHA quarterfinals by Brampton last spring, the bantams were 0-2-1 heading into last night's home-ice clash with Orangeville. They close out the weekend Sunday afternoon in Georgetown.
