

HIGH SCHOOL REPORT

"MUSTANG MESSENGER"

Megan Cheema

Harbi Natt

Courtney Coulombe

MILTON DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL

Last week flew by in a blur, and this week is sure to do the same with another eventful week up ahead here at MD. There is lots to look forward, and you can be sure that our schedules will be once again be packed to the max.

Last Thursday the Halloween spirit got a kick-start at the much-anticipated Halloween Dance. The first dance of the year was an absolute hit with students from all grades having an amazing time dancing the night away in their Halloween costumes. There were witches, warlocks, devils, and angels, but only the most outstanding costumes were awarded with prizes from Student Government. The success of the dance was spectacular, and everyone is already looking forward to the next one.

Though the dance was definitely a nice chance to take a break from thinking about the future, MD seniors also had the chance to attend the College Fair last week at the Exhibition Place to take a look at different schools that they were interested in. Just a reminder that universities and colleges will continue coming in this week, so take a look in Guidance for the times, and don't miss out on these opportunities to ask questions.

Everyone loves and needs to take a break from the daily stress that comes with school now and then, and once again this year, MD has the perfect place for that break. The 'Stang Snack Shack' is now open and selling all your favourite treats. From chocolate bars, to ring pops, to gum, pop, and chips, the school store is sure to have just the type of sugar fix you're looking for. The store will also be selling school merchandise in the near future so keep checking out what's new, and remember to stop by the store regularly or whenever you feel like treating yourself to something good and sweet!

It is clear that Milton District is buzzing with endless activity, but it wouldn't at all be complete without the usual action going on with all of our Mustang sports teams! This week is full of games meaning this week will hopefully bring home many victories. Today both the Junior Boys' Football and Junior Boys' Volleyball Teams will be putting up a fight against Christ the King, and we wish them good luck!

Finally, we cannot forget to welcome back the grads we all know and love because Commencement is only a few days away! The ceremony will take place at 7:30, and the final farewell to the graduating students of MD is sure to be a memorable occasion.

Well Mustangs, another week of school is up ahead so remember to take a break and relax every so often. Until next week!

"DATELINE DRURY"

Ashley Carlisle

Michelle Staples

Stephen Jackson

E.C. DRURY HIGH SCHOOL

(Michelle and Stephen walk into the computer lab for the weekly meeting to compose Dateline Drury's latest edition, only to find Ashley staring at a blank computer screen in dismay.)

Ashley: AHHHH!!! There's nothing to write about this week! HELP!

Michelle: Ok, so clearly you didn't get a good view of Nick's back after the paintball adventure last Tuesday.

Ashley: Nick's back? Paintball? What's all this about?

Steve: And you call yourself a reporter! The Rattlesnake house got to go to Ultimate Paintball.

Michelle: And Nick bares the battle scars to prove it. Looks like they had a lot of fun, even though it rained.

Ashley: So wait, why did they get to go?

Steve: Because they won last year, but the Wonderland trip was cancelled, so they got this instead.

Ashley: Ah ha, that makes sense now. But wait, what did they win? And what is this whole "house" thing anyways?

Steve: Do you live under a rock?

Michelle: The best part is, I think Ashley really knows the most about this one...

Ashley: (shoots Michelle a nasty glare) Right... So house, here's how it works. Think Harry Potter, only better.

Michelle: Wow! This sounds great already!

Steve: I'm surrounded by nerds, got to go!

Michelle: Get back here!

(She throws him back into his seat.)

Ashley: (stunned) Right then. House. Our school is divided into 8 houses, each represented by a colour and a name pertaining to a particular part of Milton, such as Limehouse and Kelso. Students can win points for their house due to academic accomplishments, sports, extracurricular participation, and sometimes house activities. And, unlike Harry Potter, we can't have points taken away. Each year, the winning house is rewarded with a trip to Canada's Wonderland!

Steve: Mention Harry Potter again and I WILL leave.

Michelle: Wow, you seem to know more about this than you'd originally implied.

Ashley: Yeah, well, I get lazy sometimes. I was hoping one of you would explain it.

Michelle: Better luck next time...

(Michelle and Stephen walk away awkwardly, leaving Ashley to her screen now full of Harry Potter comments.)

"THE ROYAL REPORT"

Erin Hetherington

Lindsay Johnston

Julia Riddell

BISHOP REDING HIGH SCHOOL

It seems as though the glow of fall has faded quickly under the thick, gray clouds. Despite this, Bishop Reding students still shine both within the building, and in the community. The Coffee House, held Thursday October 19th, was the perfect example of students making a difference. The delicious baked treats sold in the blink of an eye, although most people were too busy enjoying the gorgeous voices and perfect chords of the performers. The speaker from Project Haiti was beyond inspiring, and the money raised will go to help developing countries like Haiti. The exact amount raised will be announced next week, so make sure to flip to your Inside Sources next week.

Also this past Thursday the 19th, grade twelve chemistry students got to strut their stuff in the Science/Engineering Olympics at Hamilton's McMaster University. Led by Ms. Muvrin, the students were able to participate in activities and competitions in the areas of software engineering, biochemistry, neuroscience, photon physics and mathematics. The students, including our very own Erin Hetherington, made Bishop Reding proud by winning a total of $2 300 in scholarships and had a great time. They were cheered on by the grade eleven science students, who also got to visit McMaster for the day, though they did not participate in the Olympics. Congratulations to everyone who participated.

This week was a crucial week for those interested in the Sears Drama Festival, as callbacks and final cast lists were posted. Due to the overwhelming interest in this great experience, for the first time in quite a while Bishop Reding will have two entries to the festival. This festival is a great way for those students interested in the dramatic arts to see, and feel what it is like to put together a production all their own. The plays are directed, produced, performed and even occasionally written by the students. Over the next few weeks the students selected will be working hard to put together two great productions. Once they are ready for the festival, you will be able to attend a performance of the plays, and experience that is always enjoyable.

Calling all artists! The yearbook committee is looking for people to submit art, poetry, and other creative pieces for this year's yearbook. The goal is to make the 2006-2007 yearbook an accurate reflection of how creative and brilliant our students are, so we want as much student work as possible. Although it seems early, the cover design for the yearbook is due in mid-November, which means we need to begin now. If anyone has any ideas for a cover, please mention them to Nicole Kozak, Crea Henry, Kathlene Campbell-Conlon or one of your Inside Sources. Also, it is not too late to join the yearbook committee, so listen to announcements for the next morning meeting.

YOUNG DRIVERS[®]
Milton

Are You Prepared for the Road Ahead?
There is only one... YD Milton

Course Dates & Times

Milton
Ph: 905 875 0480

Nov 14
Tuesday & Thursday Evenings
4 Weeks
6:00pm to 9:15pm

Dec 27, 28, 29, 30
4 Days
9:30am to 4:15pm

Serving Milton Since 1979
www.yd.com