

Beauchamp is exceptional in Pack of Lies

powerful scene, she suffers a sort of breakdown. Retching into the sink, Barbara lets go of her proper British reserve, and spews forth all the anger and confusion brewing inside her about the no-win situation she's found herself in. She yells, she flails, she cries.

It's an uncomfortable scene to watch, a sure sign of Beauchamp's ability as an actor.

I found myself wondering along with Barbara, does Helen's deceit mean her affection wasn't genuine? Was theirs a true friendship, or simply a way for Helen to secure information?

The play is completely dependent on dialogue to move the plot forward, which means more lines for the actors.

In comedies, the actors have a chance to recoup and think about their next lines while giving the audience time to laugh. This play didn't have that buffer, probably one reason there seemed to be more flubs than usual.

But no matter. The Milton Players took a risk presenting something different, and it's a nice change.

Kudos to the strong cast, which included — in addition to those already mentioned — Charlotte Beauchamp as Julie Jackson, Norm Champoux as Peter Kroger, and Ben McFarlane, Jacque Sampson and Linda King as investigators.

It was directed by long-time Players member Susan Cranford and produced by Sharon Stevens.

Pack of Lies continues tonight and tomorrow. Tonight's performance starts at 8 p.m. Tickets cost $25 each. Tomorrow's performance is a dinner theatre. The bar opens at 6:30 p.m., with dinner at 7 p.m. and curtain call at 8:15 p.m. Tickets cost $40 each. For tickets, call (905) 875-0629 or visit Boutique 188, 188 Main St.
