

Job fair in Burlington next week features more than 200 exhibitors

Many young people worry there aren't many jobs out there for them. But Halton's biggest annual career fair aims to show them their career options are limitless.

This year's Careers Unlimited fair will take place at White Oaks Secondary School, 1330 Montclair Dr., in Oakville Tuesday from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

This free event will bring together more than 200 exhibitors from business, industry, government, community service and beyond.

It's being presented by the Halton

Industry Education Council together with the Halton District School Board and the Halton Catholic District School Board.

Organizers say the event is an easy, fast-paced and interactive way to learn a lot about various careers.

High school students will also learn about the ways they can start exploring the career world early — through co-operative education and experiential learning programs that let them earn credits while on the jobsite.

Many of these programs, like the Ontario Youth Apprenticeship Program or the new Specialist High Skills Major programs can earn students certifications they can apply toward their careers after high school.

All companies and organizations, large or small, are welcome to exhibit. The fair provides the opportunity for area employers to get the word out on their business and build connections with possible future employees. To sign up, call (905) 634-2575, ext. 12, or visit www.hiec.on.ca/cu.
