

Officers' efforts honoured

Corrections officer Gino Santi was expecting a normal day at work when he arrived at Maplehurst one day last March.

But the day became anything but normal when he stopped a suicidal inmate from grabbing a police officer's gun from its holster.

His quick actions prevented a potentially lethal situation.

Santi was one of five correctional services employees who were honoured for their work at a ceremony in Hamilton March 1.

"I am proud to honour the exceptional achievements of these men and women," said Monte Kwinter, Minister of Community Safety and Correctional Services.

Santi, a Guelph resident, was presented with the Minister's Award for Exceptional Bravery.

Also recognized was scheduling officer Frederick Tucker, who received the Minister's Award for Contribution to the Field of Corrections.

Tucker was instrumental in developing a computerized overtime and scheduling program at Vanier Centre for Women in Milton, which helped resolve many complaints and grievances.

The Minister's Awards for Exceptional Achievement pay tribute to ministry staff and volunteers whose exceptional performance is demonstrated by acts of bravery, community service, humanitarian service or contributions to the field of corrections.

SPECIAL RECOGNITION: Corrections officer Gino Santi (top centre) and scheduling officer Frederick Tucker (above centre) accept their exceptional achievement plaques from Minister of Community Safety and Correctional Services Monte Kwinter and Deputy Minister Deborah Newman.

Good taste takes time.

Like fine wine, fine cheddar improves with the passage of time. It takes up to five years for Balderson premium aged cheddar to develop its unique sharpness, rich crumbly texture and classic cheddar flavour.
