

GRAHAM PAINE / CANADIAN CHAMPION

GET OFF MY BACK: Maverick midget Jacob Davis gets checked by an airborne Michael Triolo of West Durham during last weekend's tournament. Milton lost 8-5.

Maverick tykes edged in finals

Milton's smallest lacrosse reps suffered big-time heartbreak at their own tournament last weekend.

Unable to preserve a two-goal lead in the championship at Memorial Arena Sunday afternoon, the tyke Mavericks were eclipsed 4-3 by the London Blue Devils.

Short-staffed for much of the weekend, the hosts looked to have dodged a major bullet earlier in the day when the Blue Devils pulled out a semifinal squeaker over the Peterborough Lakers — who'd crushed Milton 8-1 in round-robin play.

And hopes for a title victory were bolstered in the second period with a shorthanded deposit by Callum McGregor and unassisted insurance tally from Matthew Moore.

But London would eventually turn the tide, and edge past the Mavericks with just under seven minutes remaining, scoring the top-shelf game winner on their first powerplay of the game.

Griffin Ellis-Callow made a few key saves down the stretch, while speedy sparkplug Joey Szabo drew two assists.

Milton had cruised into the finals a few hours earlier, dumping Hamilton 9-2 on the strength of a balanced attack and sharp cage work by Ellis-Callow.

The tykes were the only host team to reach championship play.
