

Programs help grieving children

Help is available for grieving children and their families. The Lighthouse Program for Grieving Children is now holding registration for programs starting in September. The programs offer peer support for children who are coping with the death of a parent or sibling.

Special event to welcome diversity

Local residents are invited to take part in the second Welcoming Diversity Day in Georgetown next weekend.

The event, which was inspired by a group of youths involved in the Peer

Outreach Support Services and Education (POSSE) Project, will take place Saturday, Aug. 11 and focus on demonstrating a desire to welcome people of diverse backgrounds into the north Halton community, including Milton.

The day will kick off at 2 p.m. in Georgetown's Remembrance Park with opening remarks from Regional Chair Gary Carr, human rights speeches and flag raisings.

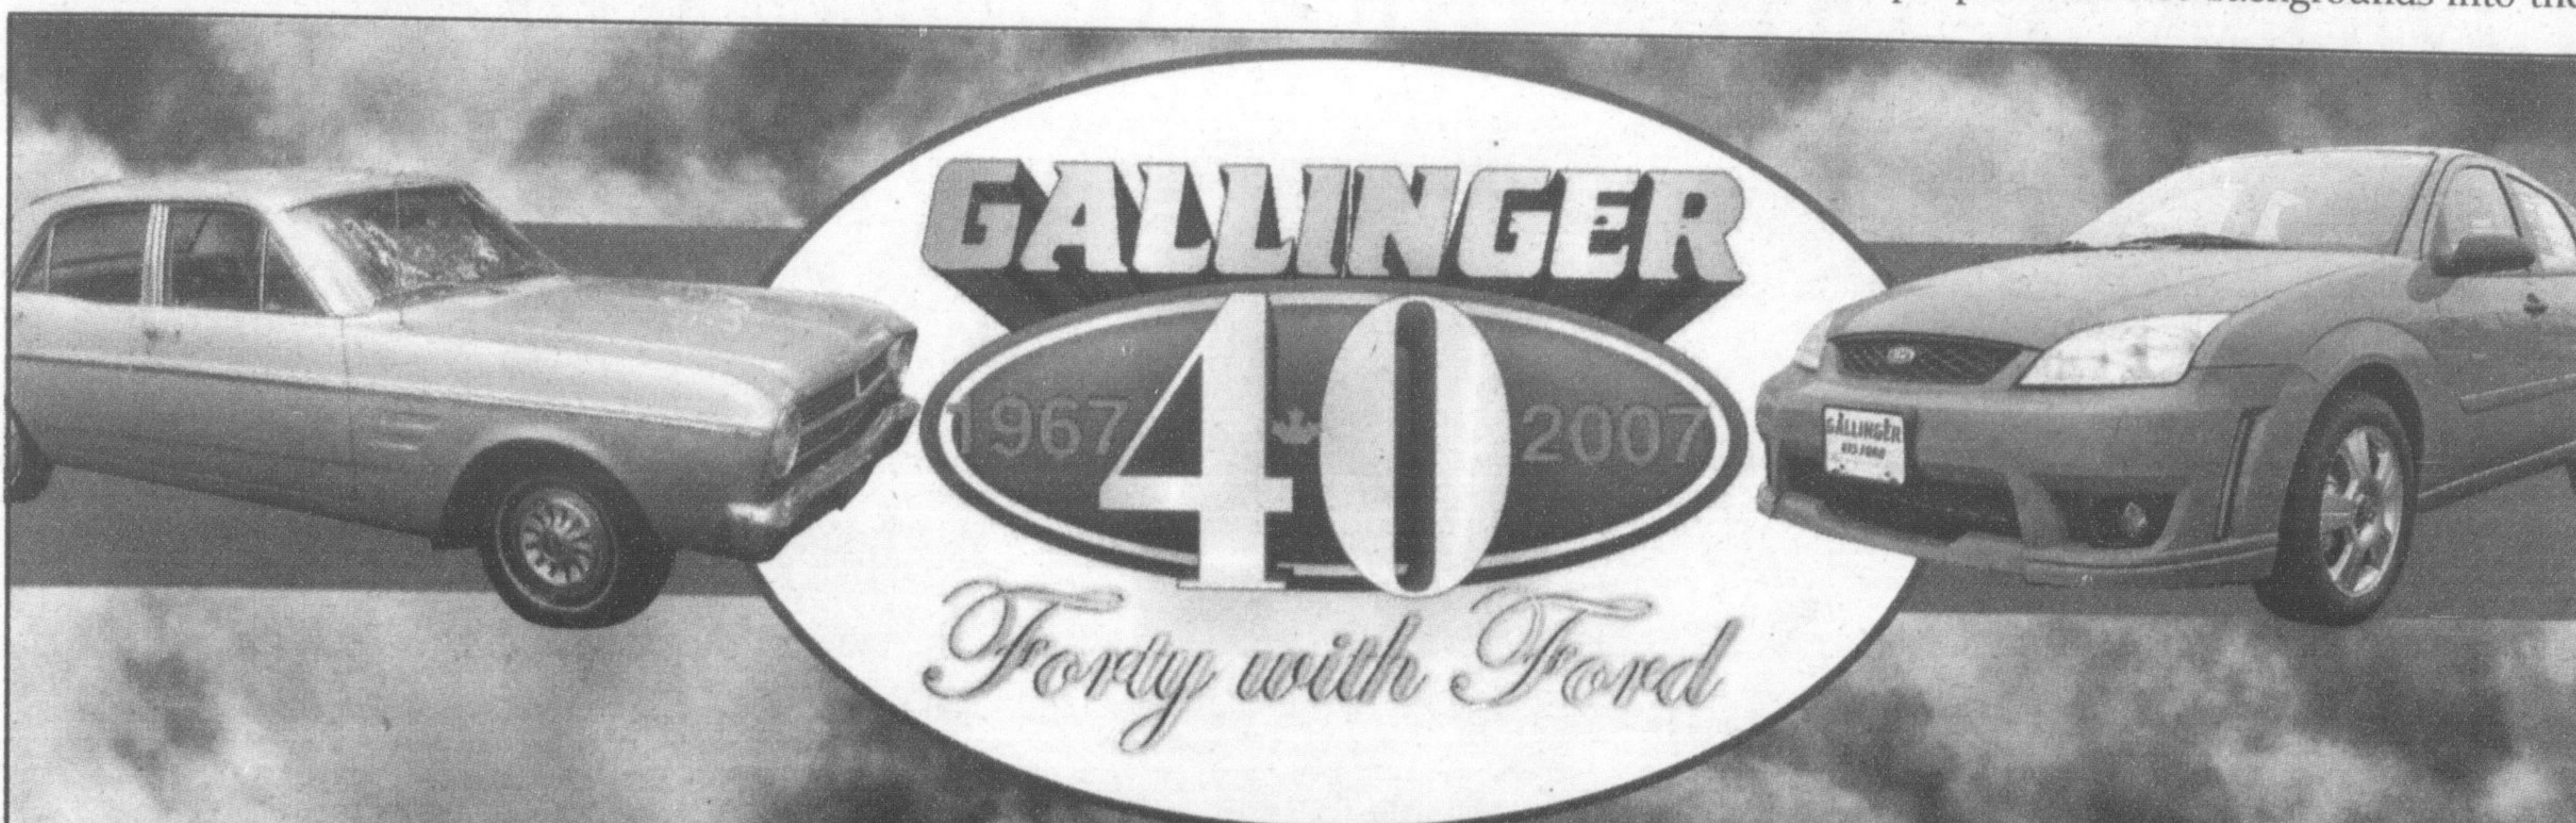

Following that will be a march down Main Street to Cedarvale Park, where there'll be food, music and a children's zone that includes birds of prey, reptiles and face painting.

The march will start at Remembrance Park and head down James Street to Main Street and follow Main Street South across Maple Avenue to Cedarvale Park.

All participants are required to remain on the sidewalk and are asked to park their vehicles at Cedarvale Park and walk to Remembrance Park.

People are encouraged to bring flags of various countries or the pride flag, as well as signs supporting human rights issues.

For more information call (905) 875-6126 or visit www.posseproject.ca.
