

First Nations celebration at Crawford Lake Sunday

An evening of traditional First Nations teachings, games and food awaits visitors at Crawford Lake Conservation Area's annual Spirit Sings event. It'll take place Sunday from 6 to 9 p.m.

Just imagine sipping hemlock tea around a campfire as the moon and stars appear above the longhouses of the reconstructed 15th century Iroquoian village.

A session of traditional games will challenge visitors of all ages, and they'll have the opportunity to learn many secrets of the forest as they participate in a guided evening hike. Special guest Joe Paquette will take visitors back in time and give them a new perspective with his gift of storytelling. Iroquoian foods will round out the experience.

Pre-registration is required, and space is limited. The cost is $15 for adults and $12 for seniors and kids aged eight to 12 years.

The event isn't recommended for kids younger than eight.

Choristers seek new members

If you're ready to take your singing voice out of the shower, the Milton Choristers is looking for you.

New members are needed to join the group in singing the classics for its upcoming 39th season. The first rehearsal will take place Tuesday, Sept. 4 at 7:30 p.m. at Knox Presbyterian Church, 170 Main St. E.

"With our 40th anniversary coming up next year, this is an opportune time for new members to come out and get comfortable during this performance season," said group president Jim Douglas.

He added newcomers to town have been joining over the past few years, and he invites other new residents to give the Milton Choristers a try.

"It's a great way to meet new people in the community and forge friendships with those who have a love of music," he said.

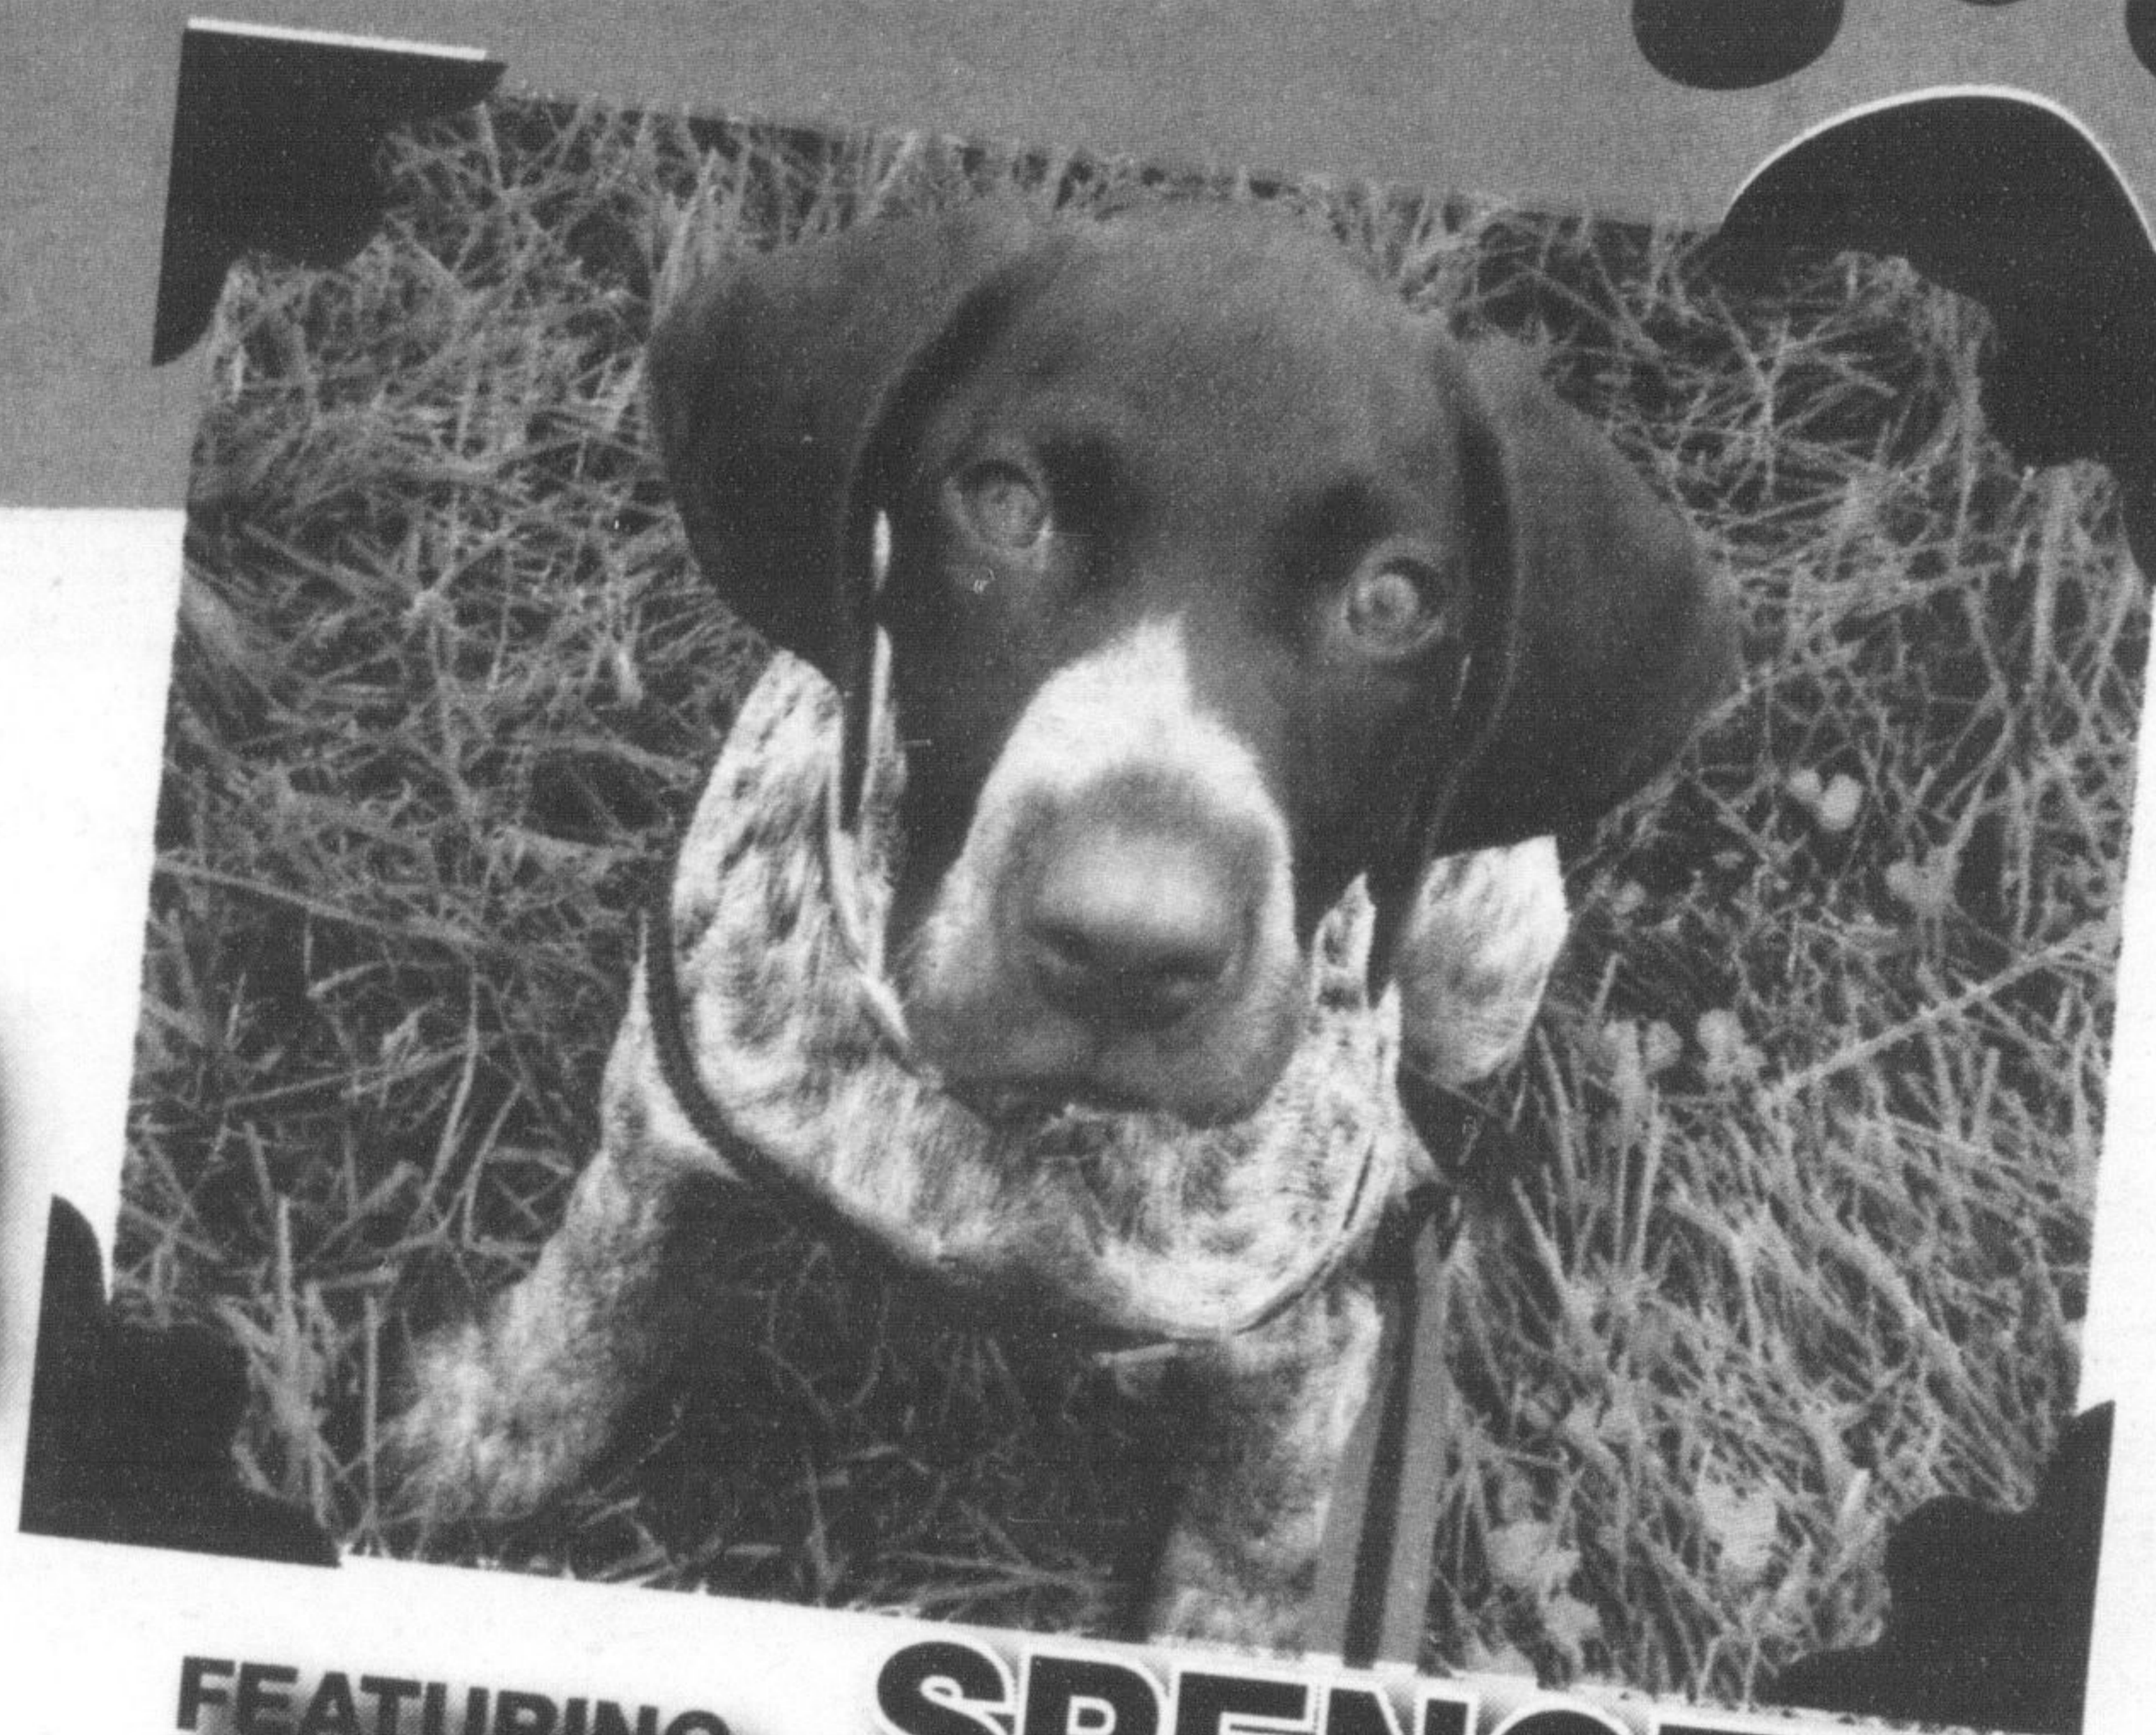

The Milton Choristers will start off its season by performing Great Choral Classics in November, partnering with the Milton Historical Society to commemorate Milton's 150th anniversary.

The Fauré Requiem will be presented in spring and the season will wrap up with Classic Rock in June.

Anyone interested in joining the Choristers is asked to call Jim Douglas before the first rehearsal at (905) 878-1632. For more information, visit www.miltonchoristers.com.

PET Profile

Ren's PETS Depot

FEATURING... SPENCER

My name is Spencer. I often hear my people refer to me as a German Short Haired Pointer. I don't know what that means but I think that they call me that because I like to point at things that catch my attention. I particularly like to point at the new Frisbee that we got from Ren's Pets Depot. It's the best toy ever! I take it with me to the park and have my old man throw it so that I can practice my super fly catching maneuver. Sometimes Daddy throws it too far and it gets lost in the tall grass. It takes me a minute or two but I always find it and when I do I like to point at it so that everyone knows that I've found it. I always get a lot of tickles and praise when I bring the Frisbee back...I love this game.
