Former MDHS students coming from all over for reunion

Emotions will be running high at Milton District High School (MDHS) tonight as former students trek back into town for a much-anticipated reunion.

The event, dubbed 'Coming Home 2007,' will bring together hundreds of MDHS alumni for a weekend of catching up with old friends, reminiscing and fun.

"There's going to be a lot of crying, but also a lot of happiness," said Kendra Johnson, one of the reunion's organizers.

She said there are more than 1,200 people pre-registered for the event, but the total number of revelers is expected to climb to more than 1,500. "It's basically going to be a big party for 1,500 people."

MDHS graduates young and old will attend the reunion, with the oldest person on the guest list being a 100-year-old woman.

"She just wants to come and go through Martin Street School (the former high school) again," said Johnson, noting she'll be joined by two 93-year-old former students on her tour.

The reunion's opening ceremonies will start tonight at 7 at the school, located at 396 Williams Ave. The kick-off event will include something special for the 80-plus crowd, an award presented to the reunion's chairman and a talk in memory of an MDHS teacher who recently passed away.

Johnson said Saturday night will also be a big to-do, with a barbecue, drinks and dancing on the football field.

The weekend will include 'decade bars,' or bars in downtown Milton hosting an evening for the different decades of alumni, starting at 8 tonight, sports at the high school from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow and a Sunday brunch at the school from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Johnson said people are coming from far and wide for the reunion, with one of her friends flying in from Australia and others coming from across Canada and the United States.

She highlighted the hard work former classmate Mark Brewer has put into the reunion and credited him for getting the event off the ground. "It was his idea and he just ran with it."
