Space Week celebration a real blast

Chris Hadfield Public School recently celebrated World Space Week — commemorating the launch of the first human-made earth satellite Sputnik 1 — with the launch of three rockets that science teacher Grant Davidson built from kits. Earlier this year he spent a week at Space Camp in Huntsville, Alabama. Clockwise from above, Hadfield's Grade 2 students look up in awe during the afternoon launch. Davidson and Grade 6 student Stephanie Tesla watch the rocket ascend. Fellow sixth grader Erickson Jardin turns his eyes skyward to watch the flight. Tesla (right) and Tjana Stewart show one of the rockets they helped launch.
