

Man and his vintage car to appear in upcoming movie

Milton's Brent Tyrer and his 1967 Ford Galaxie 500 convertible were extras recently in the upcoming Hollywood movie being shot in Toronto entitled Flash of Genius.

"It was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity and I will never forget it," said Tyrer.

The story is about Bob Kearns, the inventor of the intermittent windshield wiper, and his struggle to get automakers to pay him for his patent — which they infringed upon.

The movie focuses on his initial discovery that Ford had copied his invention without his knowing about it — and how he set about getting what was rightly owed to him.

Bob Kearns is played by Greg Kinnear, who was on set while Tyrer was there. Lauren Graham, best known as Lorili Gilmore from the Gilmore Girls TV show, plays Kearns' wife.

Flash of Genius is due out in the spring.
