

Caesar-making competition to help local women's shelter

Are you up for a challenge? The Boston Pizza restaurant on Maple Avenue is holding its first-ever Caesar Competition Tuesday starting at 7 p.m. Participants will be given a chance to mix their best caesar to five minutes of music in hopes of being deemed the winner.

The event will help support Halton Women's Place. A panel of celebrity judges will make their decision based on presentation, taste and garnish. It's expected the fundraising event will become an annual one. For more information, call (905) 864-1411.

Hey there spring, welcome back

Ah, spring! A season that falls between winter and summer that is normally marked with extended daytime, blooming buds, rain showers, and of course, every household's annual chore of spring cleaning.

A never-ending chore, spring cleaning starts from top to bottom, and works its way from the inside out. Visit the Milton Public Library and browse our many resources to help create your spring cleaning checklist for inside your home, in the yard, and for tips on organization.

Not sure where to start? This is normal, please do not panic! Only one thing to remember: Cleaning starts from the inside out.

For general information on indoor cleaning, be sure to read our complete book of cleaning, How to Clean Absolutely Everything by Barty Phillips.

Are you prepared? Most of your spring cleaning will occur indoors, and the library has a variety of resources to suit all of your needs including How to Clean and Care For Practically Anything edited by Consumer Reports, which includes hundreds of time-saving solutions not only for spring cleaning, but for all year round.

Are you a junk collector?

Cover to cover

According to some clutter busters, if you haven't used something in your house within three months, it's considered junk, and you should get rid of it. House Works: Cut the Clutter, Speed Your Cleaning, and Calm the Chaos by Cynthia Townley Ewer will show you exactly how you can clean up your clutter and get rid of your junk.

Parents, get your children involved in spring cleaning by reading 10-Minute Kid Clutter Control: Hundreds of Proven Tips Even Kids Can Do by Rose R. Kennedy. This is a great resource to show how 10 minutes every-day can help to offset clutter and disorganization.

While cleaning is important, it's also important for us to respect our earth and our health. Naturally Clean: The Seventh Generation Guide to Safe & Healthy, Non-Toxic Cleaning by Jeffrey Hollender and Geoff Davis, with Meeka Hollender and Reed Doyle, uses only natural products for cleaning, with natural cleaning compounds.

Take care of our earth; take care of your yard. After a harsh winter, spring cleaning in your yard can be very intense. Outdoor Cleaning with Pressure Washers by Thomas G. Lemmer includes a step-by-step process to outdoor cleaning. Only one thing left to do now, and that is getting organized.

We use excuses such as "There's not enough space," or "My house is too small". Stop using excuses and browse our many resources on organization including Organize it! How to Declutter Every Nook and Cranny In and Outside Your Home by Mervyn Kaufman. Other great books are Mission, Organization: Strategies and Solutions to Clear Your Clutter and Clutter Cutters: Store it with Style by Better Homes and Gardens.

Please don't let the snow get you down! Be motivated and start your spring cleaning today. The Milton Public Library offers many more resources on indoor cleaning, outdoor cleaning, and organization. Be sure to visit the Milton Public Library and ask us at the Information Desk for tips on creating your spring cleaning checklist.

Invest in your child

Invest in our future

When you show your children how to listen, you are not just telling them they are important, you are also investing in the future — theirs and ours. Children who can listen well when they start kindergarten are kids who are putting their best foot forward. And research shows that success at school leads to success and happiness throughout life.

For fresh ideas on making listening fun, call Our Kids-Milton at 905-876-1306

We can help you make a lasting investment in your child's future.
