

Your Invitation To Worship

Change the World

John Sculley served as president of Pepsi Co during the 1970s and early 1980s. He is best known for his introduction of 'The Pepsi Challenge'. He left Pepsi Co at the pinnacle of success to become CEO of Apple Computer from 1983-1993. What would cause his to make such a dramatic shift??

Sculley, with years of experience in marketing beverages, was perched securely on the top rung of well-established Pepsi Co. He describes meeting with Steve Jobs, the brilliant, but impulsive, Apple founder, who'd flown to New York to recruit him.

"Are you going to come?" Jobs inquired.

"Steve," Sculley says he replied, "I love what you're doing... but it just doesn't make sense for me to move." He had no idea what to do to revive the sagging computer sales at Apple, which was struggling to survive.

Loathe to forfeit pensions and deferred compensation, he told Jobs he'd require a salary of one million dollars annually plus a one million dollar signing bonus and an agreement for one million dollars in severance pay should things not work out. Initially, Steve Jobs was taken aback, but after contemplating the costs agreed that Apple Computer would pay that kind of money.

Once again, however, Sculley demurred.

Finally, an exasperated Steve Jobs posed a question that struck an arrow through the core of Sculley's hesitation: "Do you want to spend the rest of your life selling sugared water or do you want a chance to change the world?"

"I had no answer," writes Sculley. "It simply knocked the wind out of me." By making him think like a visionary, Steve Jobs eroded all his resistance and compelled him to make the move.

The power of faith and vision will allow you to dream big dreams and accomplish great things. To learn more, visit one of Milton's fine churches this week. Service times and locations are published in the Religious Directory below to help you.
