

Belly-dancing event for women's shelter

Call it a goodwill event with a whole lot of rhythm.

Continuing a fundraising trend, Halton Women's Place will once again benefit from some belly-dancing entertainment — as Shelimah's School of Middle Eastern Dance is teaming up with area belly dance instructors for a performance at Main Street's South 2-2 Restaurant Wednesday night.

The event begins at 9:30 p.m. sharp and is separate from the dining area. Those attending are asked to give a $5 donation, with all proceeds going to the local shelter.

"We think it's very important to raise the awareness of violence against women and children that occurs in our community," said Diane Bangarter (a.k.a. Shelimah).

"Women and children are often terrorized by the abuse within their own homes. Halton Women's Place provides them with a safe haven. We hope that by generating awareness, it will help stop the violence."

This marks the latest event in which local dancers showcased their talents in aid of Halton Women's Place, with last month's annual gala dinner also featuring two belly-dancing performances.

Women of Note to launch CD

Love traditional Irish music? Then the Women of Note are your ticket for an enjoyable afternoon next month.

On Sunday, May 11, the seasoned ensemble will hold the launch of its first self-titled CD, 'Letters from Ireland', at St. Paul's United Church.

The 2 p.m. performance will feature some of the group's favourite songs over the past 10-plus years and selections from its CD, which consists of letters written about life in Ireland from the late 18th to mid-19th centuries — read over traditional Irish folk melodies.

These letters are complemented with traditional Irish songs like Molly Malone and The Wild Rover, creating a charming picture of the Emerald Isle in days past.

Copies of 'Letters from Ireland' will be available at the concert, at a cost of $20 each. Tickets for the performance cost $15, with a portion of the proceeds going to work at St. Paul's, and are available at the door or by calling the church at (905) 878-8895, ext. 38 or Jack White at (905) 878-6807.
