

Church looking to open

The Christian Coptic Orthodox Church is looking to set up shop on Nipissing Road.

The Town's administration and planning committee held a public meeting last week on the proposal to rezone an existing building from its current warehouse and office use to accommodate the church.

Two Childs Drive residents spoke, with one raising concerns about the proximity of the church parking lot to her backyard fence.

The other citizen asked for "quiet" development in the area, since noise is already a problem from the industrial businesses on Nipissing Road.

Currently local residents who worship at the Christian Coptic Orthodox Church have to travel to Mississauga or Kitchener.

The committee received a report on the topic for information purposes. Staff will now prepare a technical report with recommendations on whether to approve or deny the church proposal and bring it forward to a future council meeting.

Censorship not a bad thing, says reverend

• from TURNER on page A10

An Environics poll conducted in October 2007 showed that 72 per cent of Canadians support legislation making it a separate crime to injure or kill a fetus during an attack on the mother, while 22 per cent were opposed. The same poll revealed that 30 per cent said protection should begin from conception onward while 21 per cent said it should begin after three months of pregnancy and 11 per cent said after six months.

Bill C-10 received approval in the House of Commons and is now being reviewed in the senate.

While St. Simon's Anglican Church's Rev. Lazerte said the government has no role in guiding morality, Pastor Muller of Trinity Baptist Church in Burlington spoke in favour of censorship.

"Why is censorship a bad word," he asked. "Government does it in all kinds of ways. We all do and rightly so."

The Baha'is Eriksson said unless social decay is stemmed, values are bound to decay. "Put a frog in boiling water and it will jump out of the beaker but if the heat is gradually increased, it will die, as will society. We'll boil ourselves out of realizing the slippery slope we are on."

"These are contradictory times," said Turner at the conclusion of the meeting. "We don't have funding for youth centres but we do have $150,000 for every shell bought for the sole purpose of destroying a village in Afghanistan. We could buy each Afghan a condominium with that money," he added.
