Road rage suspect free on bail

With sobs wracking her body, the sister-in-law of a man who died early Tuesday in a Hwy. 401 collision made an impassioned plea.

"We want this rage stopped," Gina Mancini told reporters Wednesday outside the Milton courthouse, referring to the alleged road rage that police say led to the accident that killed 55-year-old Miltonian Tony Greco. "Please — it has to stop."

Conditions of his release, granted by Justice of the Peace Lena Mills, include that Winsor live with his mother and surety, Jean,

The proposed list of growth principles prepared by Town staff went before town council at an information workshop held Monday afternoon.

The item comes in response to the Region's Sustainable Halton plan, which is being developed to steer future growth while preserving and protecting things like greenspace and farmland.

As part of the process, Region staff has come up with five concepts that show how about 2,400 hectares of 'greenfields,' or undeveloped land, in Milton and Halton Hills could accom-
