Discover life more than 170 years ago this weekend

Country Heritage Park is inviting visitors to discover what life was like more than 170 years ago at its Heritage Discovery Days event.

Park-goers will be able to stroll through the heritage homes and buildings on the property tomorrow and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. both days.

Country Heritage Park is located at 8560 Tremaine Rd.

The 1830s farmstead at the park was owned by the Cassin family and was originally located in Puslinch Township, with 10 family members living in the log house.

Originally from Ireland, the Cassins moved to Canada due to difficult times and owned the home for 76 years.

As for the 1860s farmstead, it was owned by the Lucas family at a time when farming was starting to change from subsistence farming to market agriculture.

The house was originally located near the corner of Appleby Line and the QEW in Burlington.

The Lucas family, originally from England, bought the farm in 1856. Inside the dining parlor are portraits of William and Jane Lucas. Their grandson, George Lucas, was the last person to have lived in the house; he died just two years ago.

In addition to the Cassin and Lucas family homes, Country Heritage Park features other buildings and exhibits that'll be open this weekend, and will have ongoing kids' activities such as the Heritage Scavenger Hunt.

Admission to the event costs $7 for adults, $6 for seniors, $4 for kids aged six to 12 and kids under six are free.
