

Your Invitation To Worship

What Is Your Guiding Principle?

Every person has a principle which guides their life, whether that principle is explicitly recognized or not. Some people's lives are all about pleasure, while others strive to amass great wealth, and still others seek power. If we aren't sure what our guiding principle is, we need only consider what we spend most of our time thinking about. Do we spend the better part of our day thinking about how to make more money, or how to get ahead of the next guy on the corporate ladder, or do we spend most of our time thinking of how we might better serve God and our fellow man? The Reverend Billy Graham is said to have quipped, "Give me five minutes with a person's checkbook, and I will tell you where their heart is." What we spend our money on is a good indication of what we value, "for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." (Matthew 6.21) Many people have more than one principle, in as much as they may seek both power and money, but usually one principle will be the dominant one, subordinating all others to this one. So, we must let love be our guiding principle, subordinating everything else to this one supreme principle.

But above all these things put on love, which is the bond of perfection. And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to which also you were called in 'one body; and be thankful.

RAMADAN- 1429 H
"O believers! Fasting is prescribed for you as it was prescribed for those before you, so that you may learn self-restraint" (Quran, 2:183)
QUICK FACTS:
 Muslim adults across the world observe this holy month of Ramadan, by fasting from break of dawn till sunset. Muslims follow the lunar calendar, which is 11-12 days shorter than the Gregorian Calendar. Fasting is one of the five fundamentals in Islam.
