VICWEST is a leading Canadian supplier of roofing, cladding, and associated products. We have the following opportunity at our Oakville branch...

Senior Engineer

Intricately involved in a variety of engineering assignments, you will review designs and documentation to ensure compliance with specification criteria and applicable standards and optimize cost reduction and performance enhancement opportunities. You will also utilize superior interpersonal and issue resolution skills with potential clients and staff members, prepare or direct product system layouts, detailed drawings, and schematics, and provide expertise at project meetings. You have at least 10 years' industry expertise, an engineering or applied science degree, and membership in the PEO. Dedicated to the application of current engineering practices and methods, you have direct experience with our building products and building envelope design and effective English language communication skills.

Senior CAD Designer

You will optimize broad technical and process knowledge to perform non-routine and complex drafting assignments to produce working plans and architectural drawings or diagrams based on engineering instructions for the construction of various structures. You will issue bills of materials, prepare master shipping bills, work collaboratively with departmental experts, and conduct site visits as required. In this leadership role, you will also oversee and check work of junior staff members. You have completed a degree or diploma program in civil or architectural engineering or technology and at least five years' directly related success along with established abilities utilizing CAD systems. Dedicated to continued application knowledge training, you have an established knowledge of relevant products and construction and a commitment to exemplary customer service.

We offer competitive wages and benefits. If you are interested in a challenging and rewarding career, please forward your resume to:
