

Your Invitation To Worship

Let Go Of Your Anger

Anger and animosity are like cancers which will eat away at us and sap our spirit and energy. But, sometimes our anger feels so righteous. We are so certain that we are right and that others are wrong that we refuse to give up our anger. We may even tell ourselves that it is a matter of principle, and that it would be a denigration of our principles to let go of our anger. Who can deny that there is a time and place to be righteously angry? And yet, most of the time that we find ourselves holding onto our anger, it is more about our egos. We may feel as if we have been insulted, and must make it right. Or, we feel certain that we are right and someone else is wrong, and we want the world to recognize the correctness of our position. If we are fighting for some great social cause, then righteous anger may be appropriate. But if we are fighting for our puffed up ego, then at least we should be honest enough to recognize that, and realize that this sort of anger is a worm that will gnaw at us and eat us alive, sapping us of our zest for life. We should learn to let our anger go. We will be glad we did.

Be angry but do not sin; do not let the sun go down on your anger, and give no opportunity to the devil. R.S.V. Ephesians 4:26-27

RAMADAN- 1429 H

"O believers! Fasting is prescribed for you as it was prescribed for those before you, so that you may learn self-restraint" (Quran, 2:183)
QUICK FACTS:
Muslim adults across the world observe this holy month of Ramadan, by fasting from break of dawn till sunset. Muslims follow the lunar calendar, which is 11-12 days shorter than the Gregorian Calendar. Fasting is one of the five fundamentals in Islam.
