Event to promote children's reading

Now read this.

The Milton Public Library is set to hold its first annual Celebration of Reading event later this month.

Set for Tuesday, May 12 at the Milton Sports Centre, the children's celebration is open to kids in Grades 5 to 8 and runs from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Highlighting the evening will be an appearance by Canadian author Mahtab Narismhan, whose first children's book, The Third Eye, is nominated for the 2009 Silver Birch award.

She'll host a Q&A session with event goers and will be available for book signings and to present door prizes.

Youngsters will also have a chance to vote for their favourite fiction and non-fiction titles in the Silver Birch and Red Maple categories.

Tickets for the Celebration of Reading are free, and available at area schools and the library.
