Region gets AAA credit rating

Top rating for 21st consecutive year

The Region's on a roll.

For the 21st consecutive year, Halton Region has received an AAA credit standing from Moody's Investors Service.

The organization has also recognized the Region's ability to maintain this standing for years to come.

"Halton Region's high international credit rating is excellent news for our residents because it ensures that the Region and our local municipalities are able to borrow money at the best possible financing rates in the capital markets, minimizing the longer term costs of infrastructure capital," said Halton Regional Chair Gary Carr.

"The Region's lower costs can then be passed on to the taxpayer."

Over the last five years, the average annual tax increase for Regional programs and services has been around half a per cent — one of the lowest among municipalities in Canada.

Moody's noted that Halton Region's fiscal policies and long-term planning continue to lead to consistent and positive results and less reliance on debt issuance.

The organization also pointed out the Region's low debt burden and low debt service expenses provide Halton with more fiscal flexibility and a better ability to address financial pressures.
