

Holiday cleaning for easy entertaining

Top tips from Sebastien Centner

(NC)—With the holidays upon us, it's time to get in the spirit and start planning your holiday party. Nothing says "festive" like inviting friends and family in to your home and raising a toast together. To make every event a dazzling success - from planning through to the departure of the last guest - Sebastien Centner, one of Canada's premiere event planners, offers valuable tips and tricks for happy, hassle-free holiday party preparation.

Sebastien's #1 piece of advice: "If it can be done in advance, do it! Cramming all the planning, preparation and cleaning for a party into a single day leads to frantic, last-minute hurrying and important details are inevitably overlooked."

With years of professional experience, Sebastien knows that it's important to get things done. "Don't cut corners on your cleaning products," he advises. "Stick with trusted brands that work well and deliver great results. You'll use less product to get the job done and you'll save time because they work so well."

Wondering where to start? Think of everything guests will touch, taste and enjoy. Take glassware and serving trays that have been gathering dust since last year and give them a quick wash using Ultra Dawn dishwashing liquid - a small step that will lend amazing shine. After the dishes are done, attack your floors, table tops, counters and sinks with Mr. Clean Multi-Surface Liquid or Spray with Febreze and get them in tip-top shape before your guests arrive.

"The day of your gathering is sure to be frantic with last minute preparation. Make sure you light some candles like Febreze Candles in Winter Evening and Warmth throughout your home to eliminate any lingering odours and greet guests with the warm smell of the holidays" adds Sebastien.

As the evening winds down to a close and guests head home, the clean-up can seem overwhelming. If you don't want to deal with the clean-up that night, simply tackle the dishes in the morning with Cascade All-in-1 ActionPacs. Cascade All-in-1 ActionPacs are strong enough to make your dishes sparkling clean without any pre-washing.

With your holiday party a success and your home sparkling clean once again, all that's left is to get a good night's rest and start dreaming up the theme for your next soiree.

A little bit of pre-party planning will ensure you get to enjoy yourself at the party instead of worrying about the clean-up
