Pj program fundraiser

For too many kids and teens, warm pyjamas are a luxury they don't have. But a Milton woman is doing her part to fix that.

A couple of months ago, Christa Strong started a Halton chapter of The Pajama Program, which provides warm night clothes and books to needy children.

Strong has already collected more than 100 pairs of pj's and donates them to Halton Women's Place, the Halton Children's Aid Society and The Deck youth centre.

On March 4 from 5 to 9 p.m., Pajama Project Halton will hold a fundraiser at Shoeless Joe's on Main Street.

There will be a drop-off box for donations of new pyjamas, which are needed for babies, kids, teens and young moms, but particularly teens aged 13 to 17. There will also be raffles and a silent auction, and 10 per cent of the proceeds from all food sales will go to purchase pyjamas.

Girl Guides celebrating

Local Girl Guides are getting ready for a big birthday bash tomorrow.

For 100 years, Girl Guides have been gathering to have fun, learn and serve their community.

To celebrate the anniversary of Guiding in Canada, more than 200 Girl Guides from across Milton and their leaders will take part in a bash at St. Paul's United Church.

Singing and skits will be part of the festivities, as well as learning more about the organization's history.
