Noakes avid flyer

• from LOCAL on page A1
confirmed by other media outlets as Paul Jess — when the four-seat Cessna he was flying crashed through the roof of a two-storey office building at about 12:30 p.m. and burst into flames. It crashed just 500 metres from Buttonville Airport, from where it took off.

The 14 employees at Thinkway Toys, where the plane crashed, got out safely.

As of press time yesterday, police still hadn't confirmed the identity of the pilot or his passenger. The plane was based out of the Burlington Air Park on Bell School Line, south of Britannia Road. Some newspapers reported it was at Buttonville Airport for radio repairs.

Noakes had started taking flying lessons a few years ago, Fitch said, and it quickly became a favourite pastime.

"She was a passionate flyer since she started taking lessons and it brought her great joy," Fitch said.

Noakes was a mother of a son and a daughter, who were young adults, Fitch said.

Clothing box fire suspicious

An early morning fire to a clothing donation drop-box on Laurier Avenue has been deemed suspicious.

Firefighters responded at about 1:30 a.m. yesterday to a blaze in the Food Basics parking lot at 500 Laurier Ave., said the Milton Fire Department.

The fire was quickly doused and resulted in minimal damage.

The cause of the fire is believed to be suspicious, said a spokesperson from the fire department.
