Milton man to travel 200 km in Ride to Conquer Cancer

A local man is seeking the community's support to help him exceed his goal of raising $5,000 for cancer research.

Andrew Ritchie is gearing up to participate in the June 12 to 13 Ride to Conquer Cancer.

Throughout the event, he'll cycle more than 200 km from Toronto to Niagara Falls to raise money for Princess Margaret Hospital, a leader in cancer research.

So far he's raised $4,800, but he wants to raise even more and is looking to the community to assist him.

He set his goal in memory of Milton teen Jeff Roy, who recently lost his battle with cancer, and countless others who are struggling with the disease.

To make a donation, visit www.conquer-cancer.ca, click on Ontario, click on 'donate now' and search Ritchie's name.
