

Mustang GT defies demographics

and the fact that everything in the cabin that looks like metal is metal, not just coated plastic.

An interesting thing on both Mustangs is the outside mirrors. Each has a tiny convex secondary mirror placed in the outer corners. It's Ford's idea of eliminating the blind spot and it actually works.

Yes the image is small, but you can see it which beats the heck out of craning your neck back over the headrest.

Pricing for the GT starts at $38,499 for the coupe and $42,899 for the convertible with a shipping fee of $1,350 and will be here by summer.

The 2011 Mustang GT is a car that defies demographics. You see everyone from bank presidents, to working people to retirees driving Mustangs.

But for most potential Mustang buyers from teens to seniors, the whole thing is about the 5.0-litre being back – and that's a good thing.

ABOVE: With 412 hp and 390 lb/ft of torque burns outs are a snap as demonstrated by a Ford engineer.

Loyalty Can Be Costly

Shopping Around Still The Key To Saving On Car Insurance

How Much Is Your Loyalty Discount Really Worth?

If you're like most consumers, you worry that switching insurance companies means losing your "loyalty discount". The truth is that switching insurance companies may cause you to lose your loyalty discount (if you had one in the first place), but that doesn't necessarily mean you'll pay more for car insurance or that you can't save a bundle in the end. The fact is, some insurance companies may provide a small discount on your premium if you've been with them for a long time – but that small discount can quickly become irrelevant if another company has a rate for you that is significantly less than what you're currently paying. After all, what good is 5% off of an annual rate of $1,500 (a $75 savings) if you could pay $1,100 (a $400 savings) with another company?

How Much Do Rates Really Differ Across Companies?

The rates charged by different insurance companies to insure the same driver, with the same car, for the same coverage, can vary by hundreds and even thousands of dollars. And with so many insurance companies providing car insurance in Ontario, odds are you are not currently insured with the company that offers the best rate for your driving profile. This is where InsuranceHotline.com can help by providing an independent, unbiased rate comparison from over 30 top insurance companies to find you the lowest rate available for your profile.
