Golden tourney for IASA U-12s

Refusing to tempt fate any longer, Jameel Alidina delivered a terrific diving save against Brantford to clinch a penalty-shot victory for his International Alliance Soccer Academy (IASA) Under-12 team.

His stop cemented a 4-2 win for local pre-teens and gave them championship bragging rights at the Cambridge International Heritage Tournament — a welcome follow-up to their runner-up finish last month in King City.

Top strikers Martin Pawlak, Avery Cornfoot and Daniel Scott also converted their penalty shots, as did Damian Koscielniak. Alidina turned back Brantford's first and fourth shooters to pull out the win, after the teams battled to a 3-3 stalemate in regulation. Brantford's keeper had to come up with several big stops in extra time to hold off a recharged IASA.

Cornfoot forced an own goal in the first half with some great pressure on the defence — erasing an early deficit — while Matthew Paquin and Robyn Smith struck after the break.

The championship showdown was a somewhat sloppy encore to the two teams' initial showdown in the tournament opener, in which IASA prevailed 3-2. That was thanks to a two-goal effort by Cornfoot.

Pawlak netted the eventual winner on a close-range scramble.
