Dancer works with celebrity choreographers

BeDiscovered an amazing experience, says Milton 12-year-old

A summer dance program recently gave a Milton girl the opportunity to rub shoulders with some of today's hottest dance choreographers.

Avery Beatty, 12, has returned from a 10-day program called BeDiscovered, for which she received a $2,500 scholarship to attend.

Held in Los Angeles, California, the program brought together 13 dancers from across North America and gave them a chance to work with a number of celebrity choreographers to hone their craft.

They also learned the choreography to participate, at the end of the week, in the Disney Dance Parade and in a show on the Hollywood Backlot Stage.

"It was quite an experience, as the 13 girls in this program had never before met and basically had five days to learn the parade choreography and the choreography for the show," said Avery's mom, Laurie, who accompanied her. "They did such a great job together, you would never have guessed that they had only met not even a week prior."

Avery decided to apply to the program after hearing about it from a friend who was planning on going.

A foot injury prevented the other dancer from attending, but Avery decided to continue with the original plan, entering a program without any familiar faces.

"It was strange at first," she said. "(But) I made a couple of really good friends."

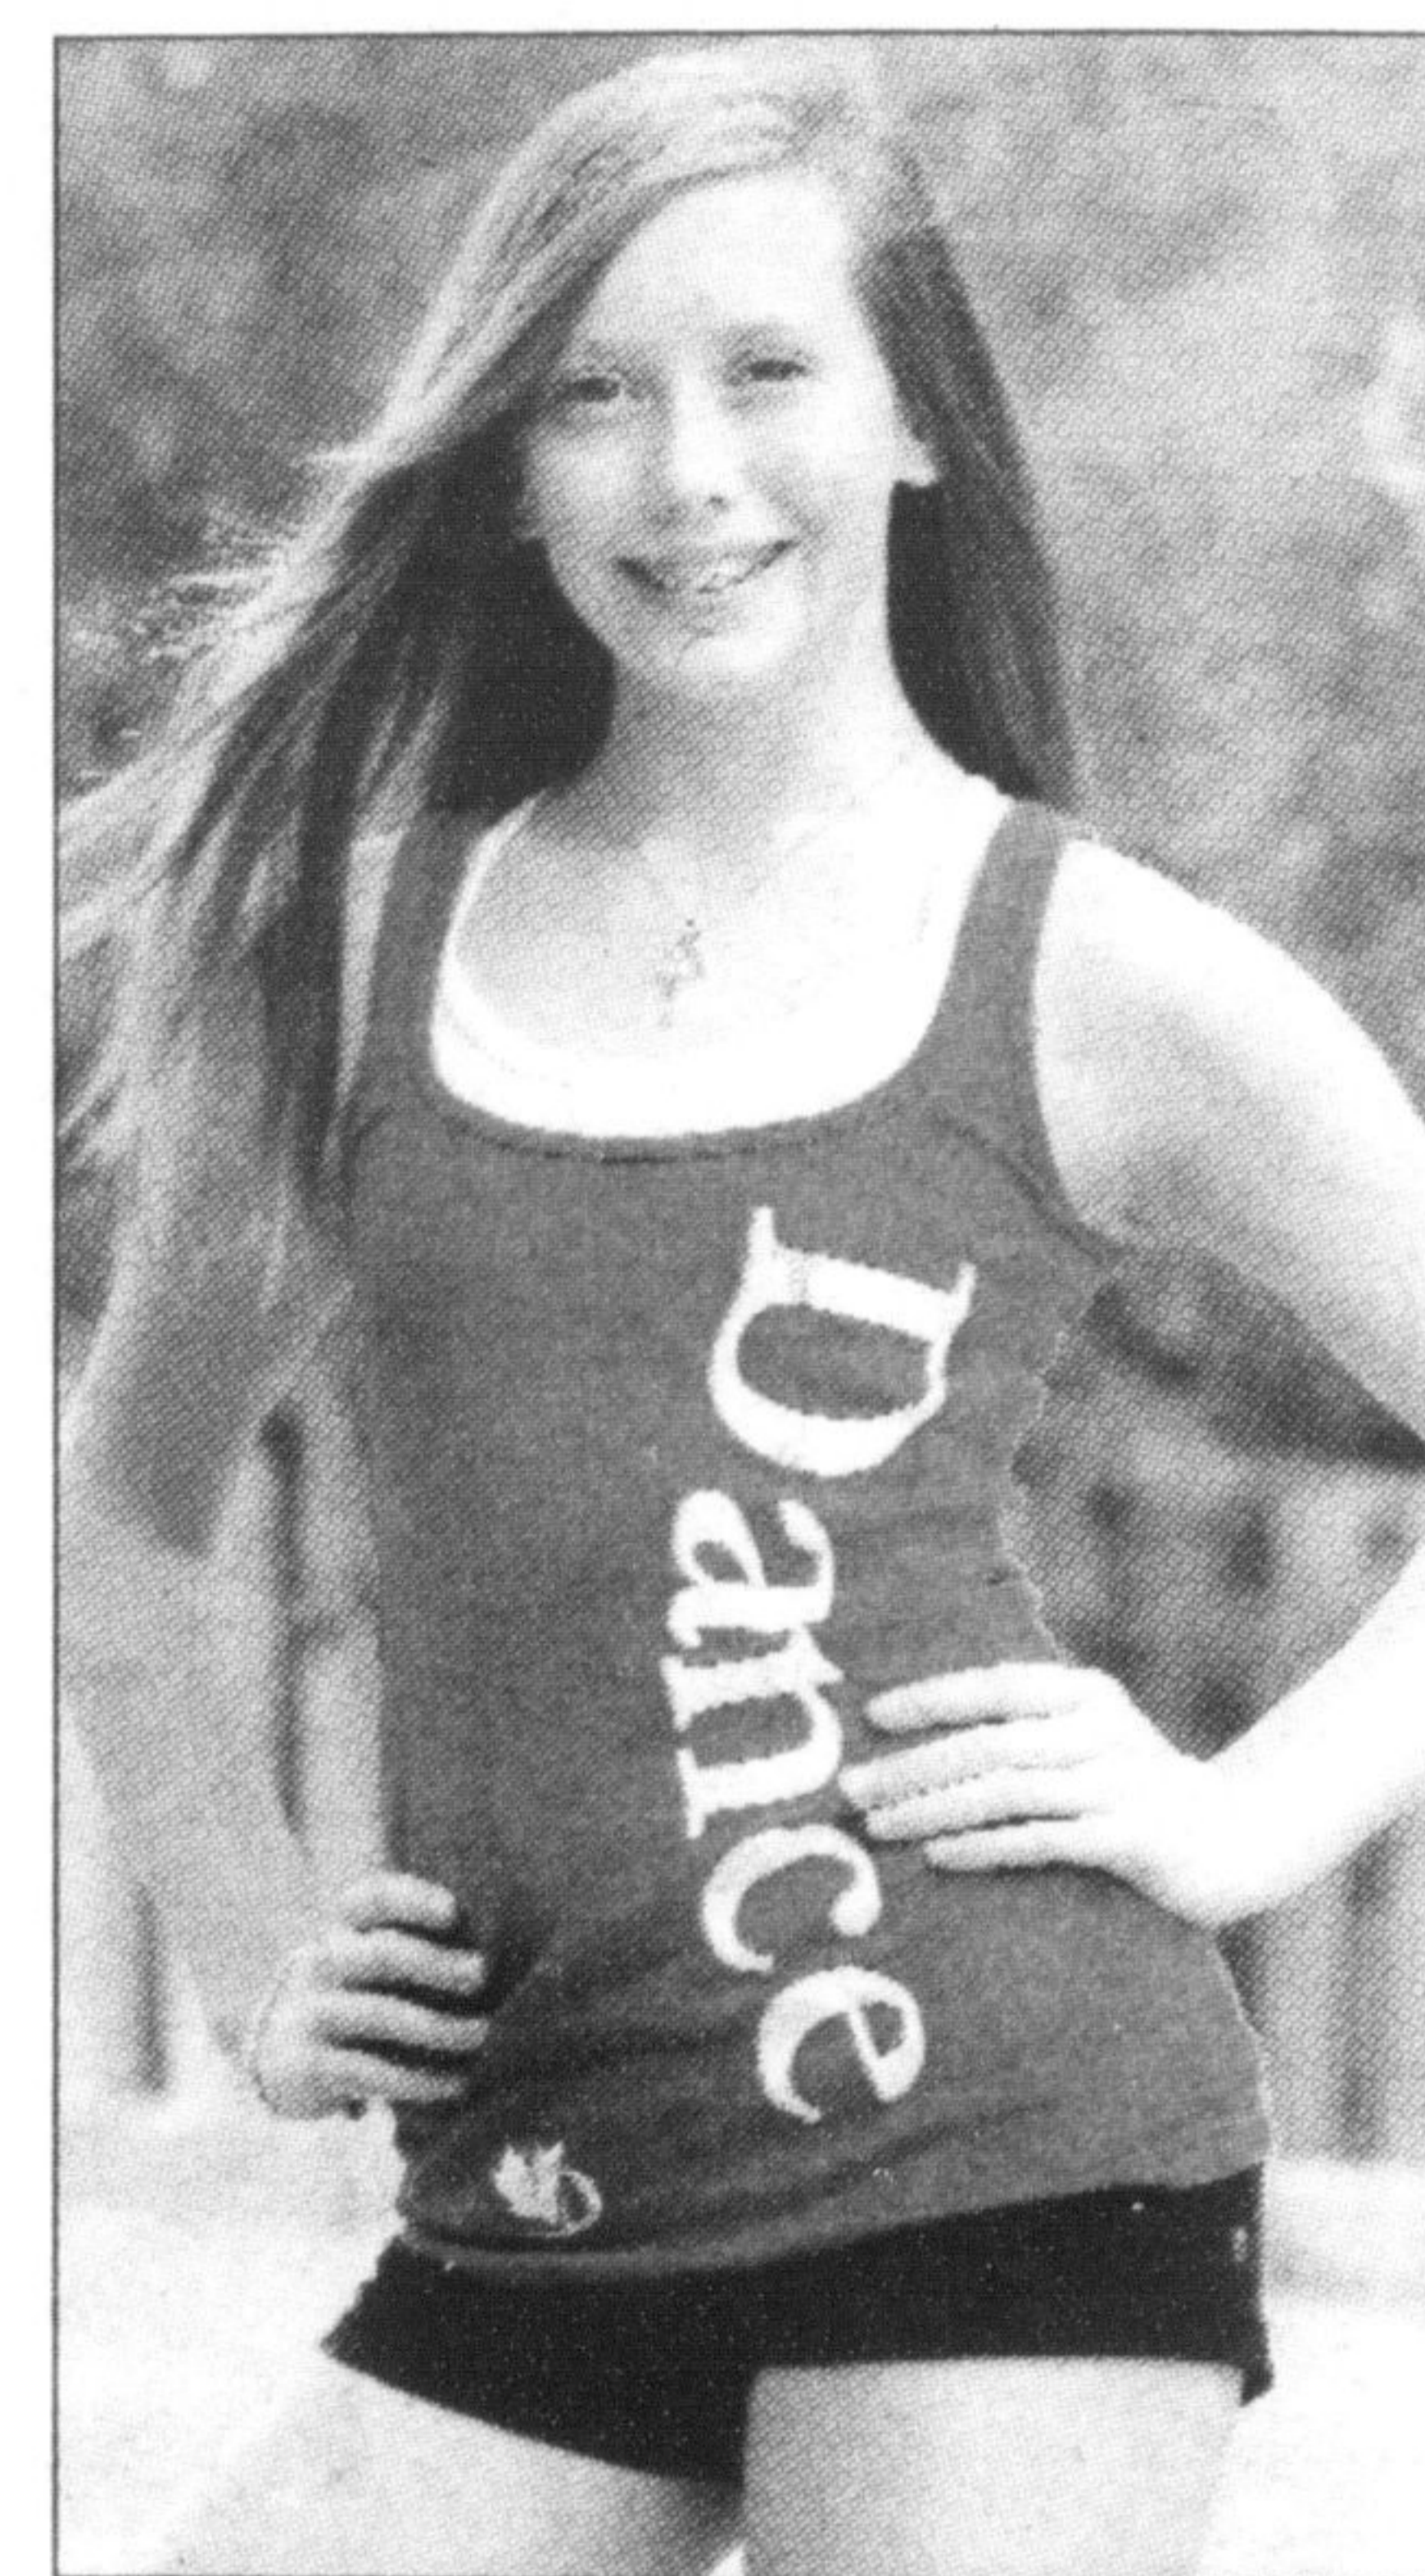

All in all, it was a great experience that convinced her all the more that she wants to continue dancing for a very long time, she said.

Avery has danced at Dance Elite Studio since she was three years old and is entering her second year in the National Ballet School of Canada's Associates Program.

She dances jazz, acro, lyrical, modern and ballet, but said jazz and pointe are her favourites.

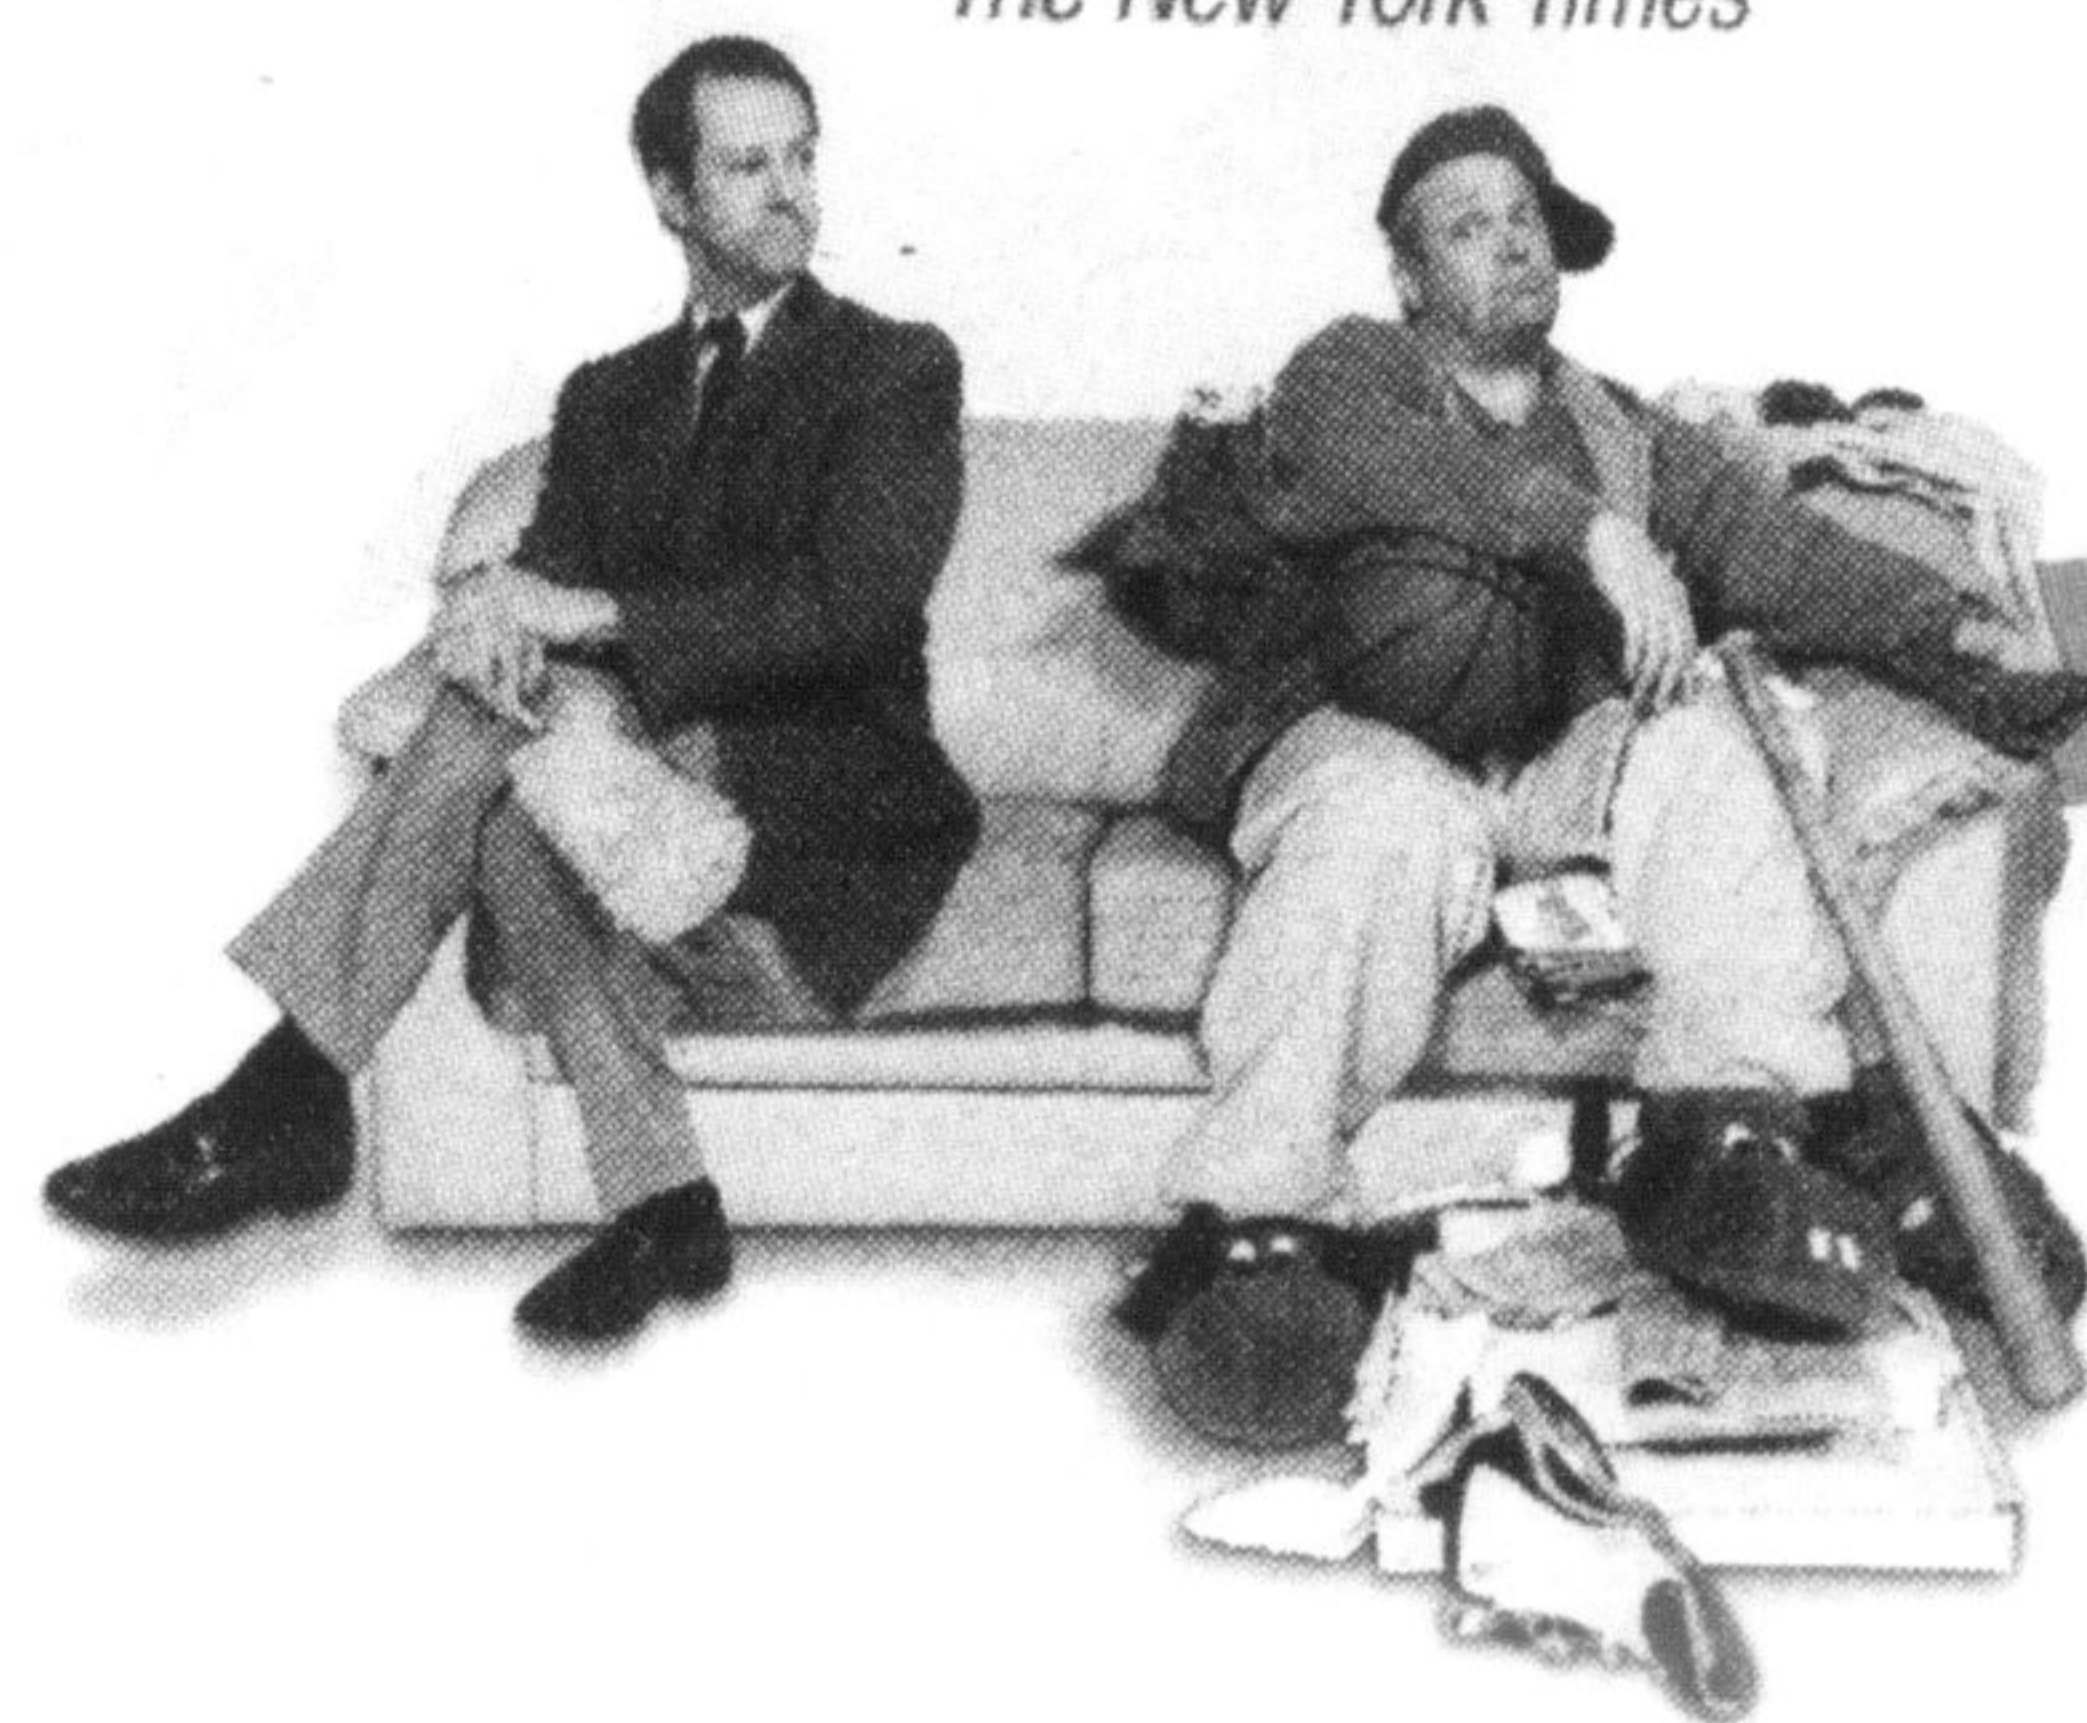

The boost BeDiscovered gave her confidence level is invaluable, she said.

"I'd love to do it again!"
