Acclaimed Carr says he'll still campaign

While Gary Carr has already been acclaimed as Halton's regional chair, he says not to be surprised to see him at your doorstep as he continues to campaign.

"I've been out there for four years, I'm continuously out talking to people between elections," said Carr, who will soon be entering his second term at the helm of regional council.

On September 13 Carr, a former Conservative MPP and Liberal MP, was acclaimed as regional chair after his sole opponent, Oakville resident Joseph Kus, didn't submit the required documentation before the September 10 nomination deadline.

His door-to-door campaigning strategy is two-fold. Carr says it's a great way to connect with his constituents and it keeps him in shape.

"Health promotion is one of the things we want to put in the (Region's) strategic plan," said Carr, explaining that childhood obesity is becoming a growing concern in Halton.

He said Regional staff will begin hashing out a strategic plan in the new year, after municipal councillors come off the campaign trail.
