Halton safest place in GTA

Also ranked safest regional municipality in Canada

For the third year in a row, Halton has been ranked the safest place to live in the GTA and the safest regional municipality in Canada.

Maclean's Magazine made the announcement Monday in its 2010 crime ranking of Canada's most dangerous cities.

Prince George, B.C., Victoria, B.C., and Regina, Sask., were dubbed in the article as the most dangerous cities while Halton tied with Wellington County, Ont., in terms of being the safest.

Caledon, Ont., was listed as the safest city in Canada.

News that Halton was once again found to be among the safest places in Canada was celebrated by Halton Regional Police Chief Gary Crowell.

"Although crime rates are going down across Canada, last year in Halton we saw a significant 10.5 per cent drop in our overall crime rate, which was already low by Ontario and national standards," he said.

"This notable achievement is due to the incredible support for policing and public safety shown by the people of Halton, who work closely in partnership with our officers, civilian personnel and volunteers to prevent and deter crime. Together, we are all doing our part to help ensure that Halton remains as safe tomorrow as it is today."

Crowell added, though, that crime rates can be influenced by socio-economic factors beyond police control.
