Halloween treats and gourds

Hundreds of youngsters took part in the Downtown Business Improvement Area's second annual Tiny Tots On Parade along Main Street Saturday morning. Children went door-to-door collecting candy at downtown stores. Clockwise from top left, Spiderman — a.k.a. Mason Kocher, 3 — looks a little tired from trick-or-treating, while five-year-old brother Colin adjusts his Optimus Prime Transformers mask. Dalmation Campbell Budworth, two-and-a-half, checks her treat bag. Lady bug Emily Kelsey, 3, is all smiles as she takes part in the event. Cookie Monster Cooper Morgan, two-and-a-half, makes his way from store to store. Two-year-old Alison Jackson, dressed as a flower, enjoys one of her suckers. Meanwhile, Milton Mall hosted a variety of Halloween activities for ghosts and goblins Saturday, including a costume contest and pumpkin carving. Clockwise from above left, five-year-old Mia Barta, dressed as a pumpkin herself, gets a hand picking up her carved jack-o-lantern from mom Michelle. Nik Dermo, 5, sporting a Super Mario Brothers Luigi outfit, carries his pumpkin home for carving. Five-year-old Batman Gordon Sutton uses his superhero strength to lift his jack-o-lantern away.
