making it easy

Solar Finance Specialist (Business Manager of Finance)

We are looking for an individual with a passion for the environment and the desire to succeed. If you have great interpersonal skills and the ability to show value, then this could be the opportunity you have been looking for. As a key member of the Solar Logix team your job will be to present each client with a finance solution specific to their needs. With your attention to detail and previous experience in presenting financial options, you will make it easy for our clients to choose a lending solution that is preferable to them. We offer training, competitive remuneration, with opportunity for advancement within a fast paced growth industry.

The successful candidate will have at least 3 years of experience in the lending industry, and be familiar with all lending instruments on the market today.

We also require
Solar Site Assessment Professional

If you have great interpersonal skills, a background in construction, or building science, or recent graduate from an accredited program, then this could be the opportunity you have been looking for.

As a key member of the Solar Logix team your job will be to assist in collecting onsite data used in our six step process to evaluate the feasibility of our Solar PV projects. The successful candidate must be able to work on rooftops, use a ladder safely, be well organized, and have a strong attention to detail. Some basic computer skills would be considered an asset.

We also require
Administrative Assistant

As a key member of the Solar Logix team your job will be to assist the manager of our Oakville operations. The successful candidate will possess a strong background in computer skills, Microsoft Office Suite of products as well as impeccable organizational skills. A background in social media applications as well will be considered an asset. We offer training, competitive remuneration, with opportunity for advancement within a fast paced growth industry.

If interested, please e-mail your resume to john@solarlogix.ca, or contact us at 905-469-3111
