

Catholic Women's League holds annual honors night

The Holy Rosary Catholic Women's League held its last meeting before recessing for the summer Wednesday at Our Lady of Victory Church in Milton Heights.

Rev. Michael Isabelle, parish pastor and Diocesan CWL Spiritual Director, began the evening event with the celebration of Mass.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of service pins and certificates of merit. Accepting 25 year service pins for their dedication to the League during that time were: Agnes Cassidy, Helen Gundlack, Val Hendrick, Marg Kubinec, Alma MacIntyre, Hilda Rigo, Norma Serafini and Pat Keane. Unable to attend were: Lucille Bradley, Yolanda McCann and Joan O'Connor.

For the first time in the history of the Milton Council, two members of the CWL were awarded certificates of merit. These were Mary Clarke for her devotion to the League in her capacity as President for several terms of office on the Parish Council, and also as treasurer of the Diocesan Council; and Agnes O'Connor for her dedication in writing personal greetings to all League members hospitalized over the years.

Mary Ann Barrow briefly reported on the Diocesan Convention held in Burlington June 5 to 7. Attending from Milton were Irene Tonelli, Ada Scisizzi, Alma MacIntyre, Dianne Miller, Mary Ann Barrow and Mary Ann DeYoung. Other members came for some of the sessions on Saturday and Sunday. Alma MacIntyre was elected treasurer of the Diocesan Council during the convention elections held on Sunday. She was presented with a pen and honored with a cake when the ladies of Milton Heights served refreshments.

Offices entered

Two Milton machine shop business offices were ransacked and damaged over the weekend, report Halton Regional Police.

Would-be thieves apparently slipped the lock of a side door to Brouwer's Machine Shop at 446 Harrop Rd. early Friday morning.

An estimated $100 damage was done, but nothing was taken, said police.

The same parties are believed responsible for $50 damage to Precision Fasteners Ltd. at 470 Harrop Rd. at approximately the same time Friday.

Police said entry was gained by prying open a window. Nothing was taken although the shop was ransacked.

Resigning

Halton's Board of Education recently accepted the resignations of the following teachers from Milton high school: Wayne Balfour and Jane Barnet.

Bicycle borne cop squad nixed

With the rising cost of gasoline it is possible Oakville residents will soon be treated to the sight of police on regular bicycle patrols?

Not very likely according to Halton Regional Police Chief James Harding. While the department has used plainclothes officers on bicycles in the past, there is no economic basis for a wholesale switch to bicycles at this time.

"We wouldn't push for them unless there is a need for them in a large park area where we have purse snatching incidents or indecent assaults, for example." Plainclothes officers have been used for these types of investigations in the past he points out.

"I can't think of a need at this time for officers on bicycles. I think though, that because of the mobility of criminals today you have to have policemen in patrol cars or on foot patrol." But it would be hard to chase someone on a bicycle. At least if an officer is on a foot patrol, he can radio in and get picked up by a patrol car and continue a pursuit, he says.

But in Washington State, police officers in Kelso are using 10-speed bicycles for regular patrols instead of cruisers for a savings of $1,000 per month.

Sheridan's Porter bids final farewell

Sheridan College founding President John M. Porter addressed 1607 graduates this week in his last convocation address.

Mr. Porter is leaving the college to go into industry after 34 years in education, 14 of which he spent at Sheridan.

Mr. Porter told graduates some of the ingredients he feels contribute to a full and happy life: enthusiasm, sensitivity, the desire to help others, honesty and determination.

He used the analogy of hooking a rug to explain how different aspects of life are woven together to form a harmonious whole.

Graduates from 70 programs in 14 schools and divisions received their diplomas and certificates at four different convocation ceremonies—two on June 3 at the Brampton Campus and two on June 5 at the Oakville Campus.

Mr. Porter noted that this year's graduates will swell the ranks of full-time post-secondary Sheridan graduates to 12,000, and told audiences that graduates of all the Ontario community colleges were contributing on a large scale.

"The economic, social and cultural impact of these people is beyond measure. We hear of new achievements every day—they're heading up businesses, creating new ideas.

"Sheridan and the other colleges have played a significant role in the economic and social fabric of this province," he said.

Board of Governors' Silver Medals were awarded to 53 students for outstanding academic achievement in their programs.

President Porter received a warm ovation as he urged graduates to 'hook' their lives well, and pointed out that he himself was graduating this year.

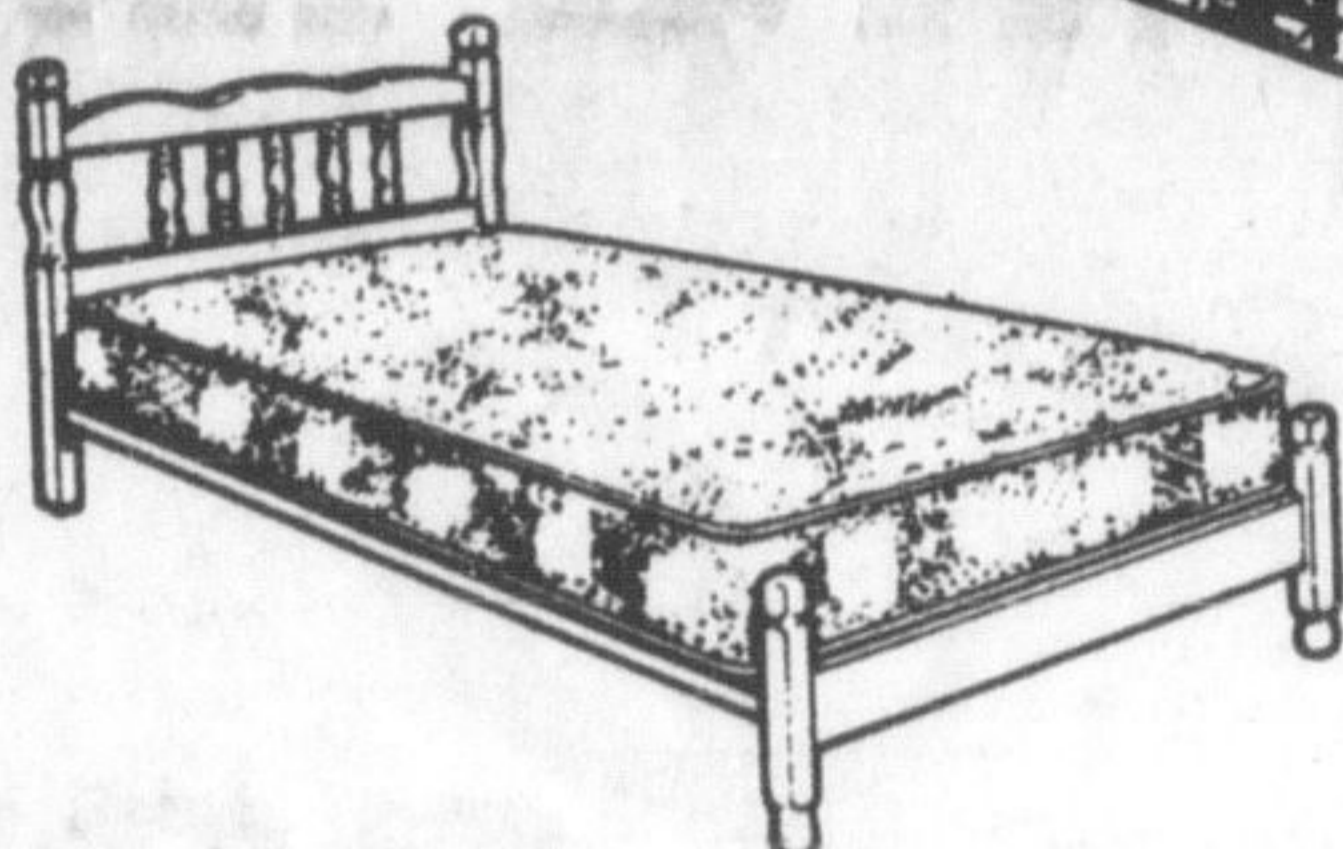

Graduates who have earned their diplomas through part-time study in the Community Services Division will have a separate convocation for the first time this year on June 23, and graduates of the School of Nursing will graduate July 28.
