Appliances built in. This sunny kitchen provides plenty of room for food preparation and serving so the adjacent dining room can be saved for those special occasions.

Escarpment home is country retreat

This enchanting two-storey is young enough to be lovely and old enough to be good. Situated on a prime country lot high on the escarpment, it features a large concrete inground pool encircled by an iron fence.

The country kitchen comes equipped with built-in appliances and has room enough for the whole family to gather together for meals.

The main entry hall leads to a separate dining room on one side and a formal living room on the other. Attractive wainscoting is an extra special touch found in these areas.

A large brick fireplace dominates the gathering room located just off the kitchen. To one side is a private den which could easily be transformed into a library, while on the other side is an over-sized powder room.

The formal staircase leads to the bedroom area where four bright bedrooms are located.

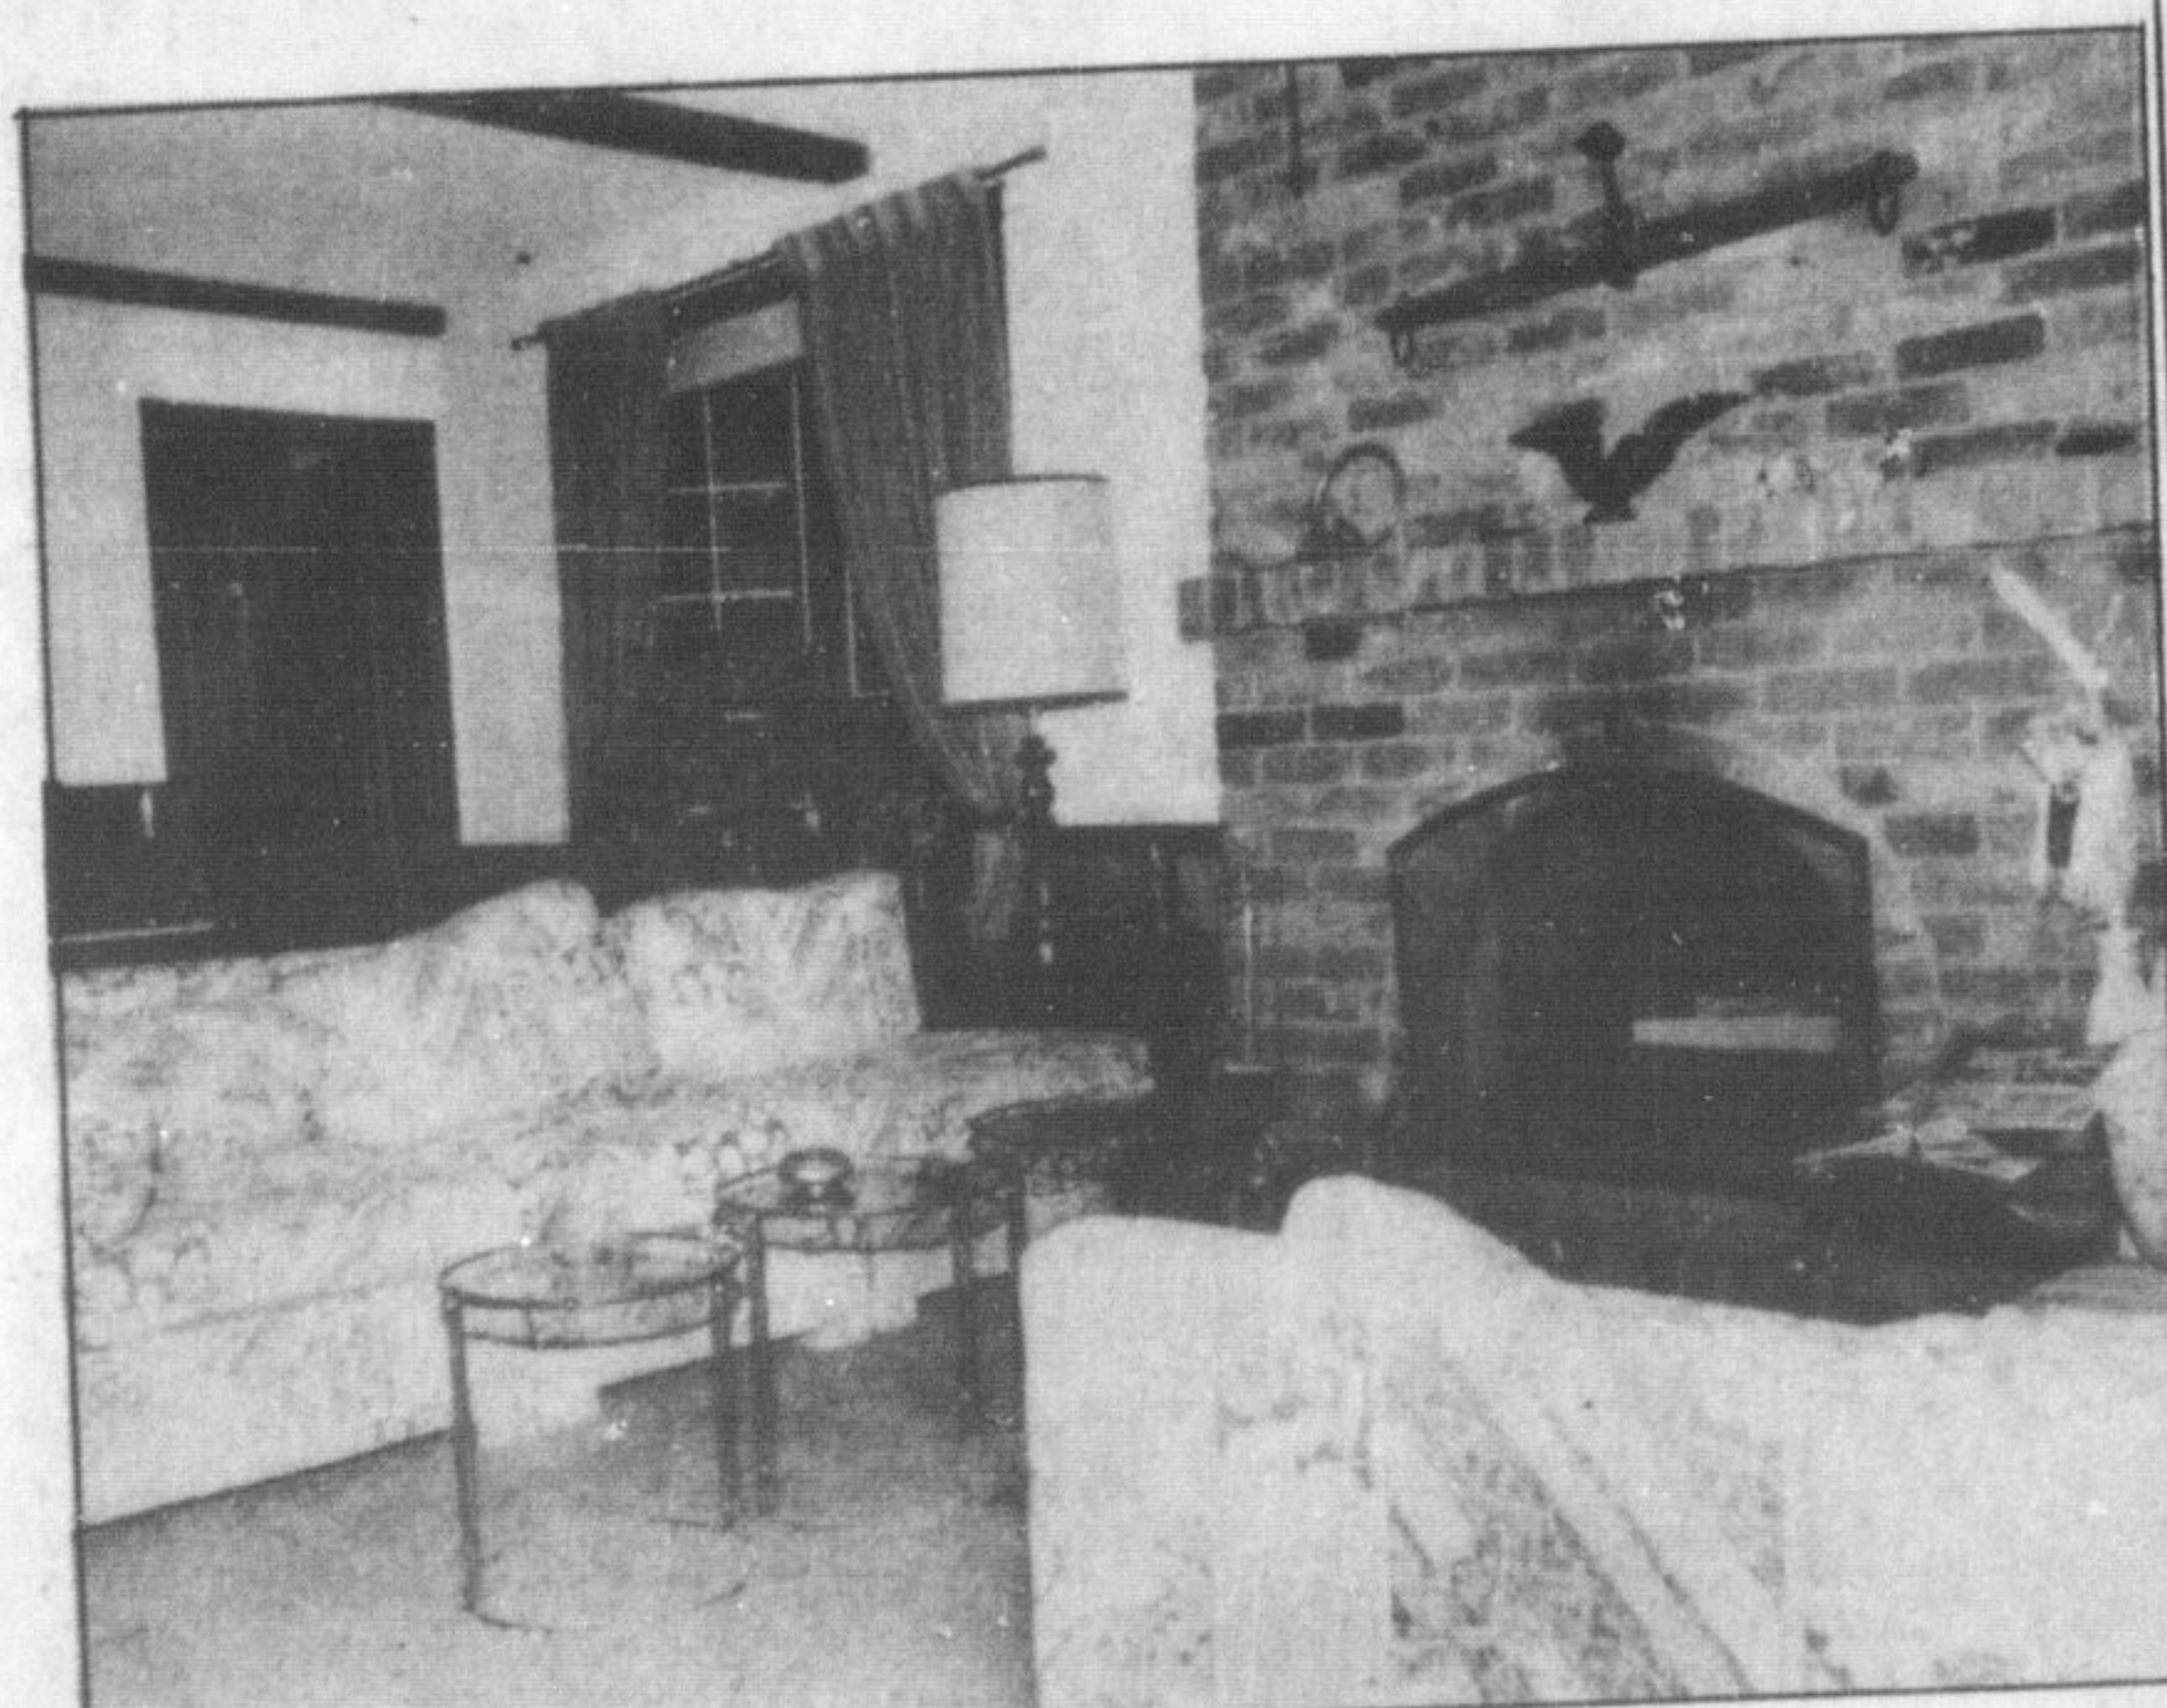

Stairs leading down from the gathering room take you to an extremely large entertaining room complete with bar.

The discriminating buyer will enjoy spending long summer afternoons lounging around the large inground concrete pool, surrounded by lush lawns and clumps of bright birch and other mature trees.

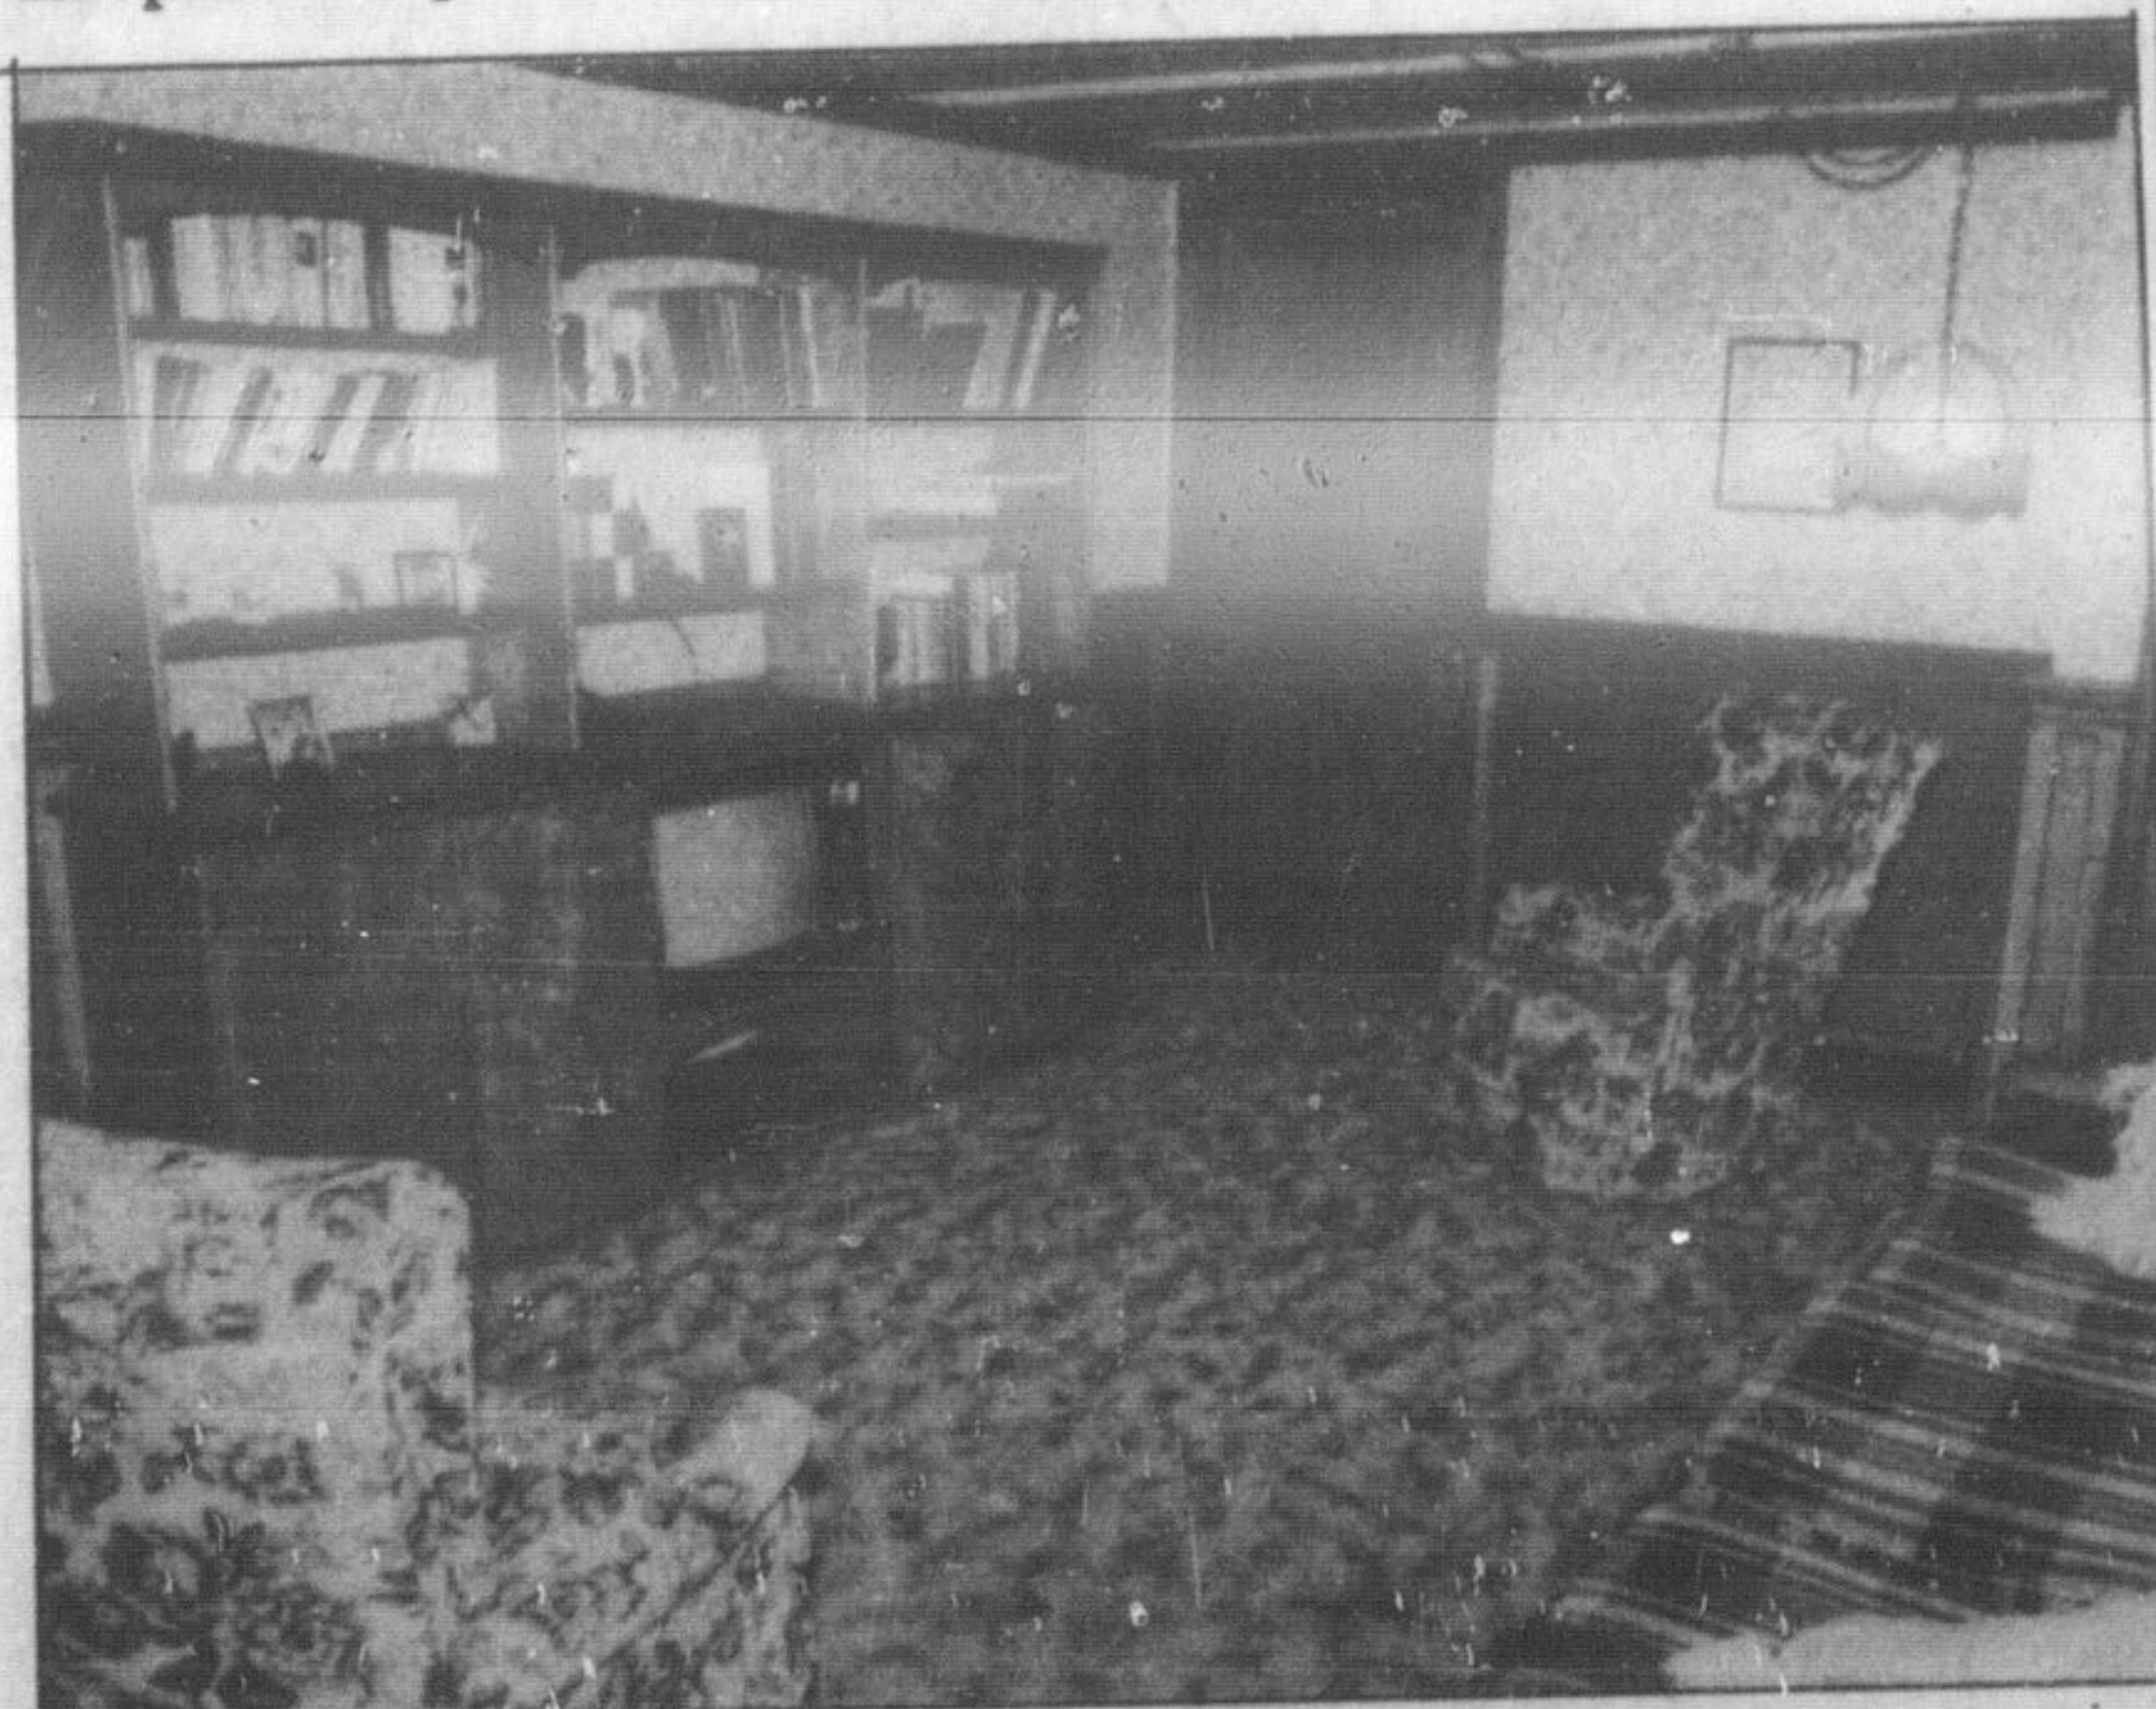

To arrange your private inspection of this country retreat please contact Jim Kerr or Jackie Verdurmen at Bayley MacLean Real Estate Ltd. at 878-0565.

Spacious living. There is plenty of space in this living room which is one of the brightest in this four-bedroom home. Two windows overlook the well treed lot and front yard pool.

For the family. A great place to relax, this family room could turn out to be a favorite for evenings around the rough red brick fireplace. A private den is adjacent to this room.

A party place. A bar makes this basement recreation room an ideal party place and leaves plenty of room for guests. Large parties could easily be accommodated here.
