

Who Does It

Putting pride back in system

By CAROL STEWART-KIRBY
Special to The Champion

On a platform which stressed "putting the pride back in the system" Oakville separate school representative, Len Auger, was elected chairman of the Halton Board of Education, last week.

Auger, replacing Milton trustee Bill Lawson, who stepped down from the chair after one year of service, said he wants the board to work together. "We must work harder to speak more honestly with each other (the trustees). We must recognize that disagreements are natural. It is not who is right that is important, but what is right," said Auger.

Burlington trustees, Noel Cooper and Bill Priestner were the other contenders for the chairmanship. They too, in their platforms, discussed the need for the board to be more open and trusting.

"We should collectively try to improve ourselves. We must work towards more honest and open relationships with ourselves and administration," Mr. Cooper commented.
