PRAISES NEWSPAPERS

President of Ontario Municipal Association Uplauds Newspapers Criticizing Municipal Affairs

By FRANK J. BUNKER

In his presidential address at the annual meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association held at Toronto last Wednesday and Thursday, W. L. Wilkinson praised the newspapers and upheld the press for criticizing municipal affairs—in fact he criticized some papers for not being frank enough in criticizing the actions of councils.

"The president lauded newspapers which spoke out fully in municipal affairs and took a leading interest in the welfare of the community," he said. "In the past it seems to me that some papers are not frank enough in their criticism of municipal councils. The ordinary man is influenced to a great degree by the papers and feels that they are, in fact, leaders of a community or province, as the case may be."

"The newspapers, therefore, have a great responsibility and should in all cases be free with their criticism on the method of government in municipal activities."

"Of course, we have no doubt many men in municipal life will not agree with President Wilkinson, but he must be given credit for his candor and fairness to the newspapers, who in the majority of cases receive rebuff and undue criticism from the public men because they do not agree with the council in everything they do—whether it is right or wrong. But no paper can be self-respecting if it does not stand on its own feet, and it would soon lose the confidence of its readers if it played favorites. A newspaper owes a duty to the public, and if it does not fulfill its duties fearlessly and without showing favoritism, its usefulness is lost."

Watch For This Gent

Beware the stranger, smiling face and outstretched hands, who comes up, tells you that he is acquainted with you, and asks you to go to his friends, tells you he has lost his money or is a little short and must get to such a place at once, and then extracts money from you. Such a man has been operating in Whiteby of late and got away last week with three dollars from a citizen whose faith was greater than his imagination. This gent, who is no doubt running a racket, is in the hands of the citizen in question with his wife, told him he knew him well, also some business associates of his in Toronto. He had lost his wallet and had to have three dollars to get home. He knew that such and such a man, a friend of the citizen in question, would be glad to meet such an emergency and lend the helping hand in the form of a loan, which, of course, would be paid back. The same gent, a few weeks ago, worked a similar racket in Whiteby.—Whiteby Gazette.

Express Rates Again Reduced

Striking reductions in rates on long-haul express shipments went into effect over the lines of all railway express companies in Canada on September 2nd. It is announced by the Express Traffic Association of Canada. The new rates represent a reduction of more than 20 per cent.

Some time ago express rates on packages 4 pounds and under were considerably reduced, but in order to take advantage of these rates shippers frequently found it necessary to split large shipments into small packages.

This entailed an increase in packaging costs, which is now removed. The present reduced rates on packages 4 pounds and under will remain in effect.

Press Day at the Exhibition

Friday was press day at the Canadian National Exhibition, when the members and their wives and families were guests of the directors for the day. Newspapers were present from all parts of Ontario and Quebec. The members of the fourth estate were entertained at luncheon at one o'clock, which was presided over by President F. H. Deacon, a native of Hamilton, and under the supervision of Inspector of Schools for Halifax for many years. In the afternoon the various buildings were visited, and at six o'clock a supper was served. A section of seats was reserved in the grand stand for the evening performance, which was much enjoyed by the visiting pressmen. The show and fireworks compare favorably with other years.

TWO YEARS FOR BURGLARY

Okville, Sept. 3.—Pleading guilty to entering the house of Leslie Thirion, Brockville, by night and stealing clothing, jewelry, articles, etc., Mickey Perron, 21, was sentenced to two years in Kingston penitentiary by Magistrate W. E. McIvreen today.

Douglas Desjardis, 20, pleading guilty to a similar charge, was placed on suspended sentence for one year.

ELECT COL. BALLANTYNE

Georgetown, Aug. 30.—Col. J. Ballantyne, D.S.O., of Georgetown, was elected president of the local Stevens' club, which W. Smith Menchant as vice-president, at an organization meeting last night. E. Barr, of Acton, and A. Finney, B.A., of Nassagaweya, outlined the party platform.

Alliston's tax rate for 1935 has been set at 60 mills the maximum last year.

Without rain, it looks as if the potato crop wouldn't be a bumper one this year.

Caterpillars of an unusually large size are playing havoc with some splendid trees in town.

At the regular meeting of the Nelson township council, held on Tuesday, the tax rate for the year was struck at 20 mills. This is an increase of two mills over last year. The council found it necessary to raise nearly two mills to carry the local improvements on property that has come back to the town as the result of a tax sale. The estimates showed no other particular increase.

The increased tourist traffic the Dionno quintuplets have attracted to Northern Ontario and the North Bay-Cochran district is particularly illustrated in figures compiled by the North Bay office of the Department of Northern Development, which show that in a single day—August 29th—1,682 cars, estimated to carry more than 6,000 persons, travelled to the Deser hospital. Although this figure represents the record, daily totals continue to be large.

Friendly Interest

By SCOTT W. RYALL

SOME find the Ninth ward merely an unpopulated canyon of asphalt, fruit peels, push-carts, kids and nose-to-clean clothes on fire-escapes. But they are not the Ninth warders. For them it is an oasis in a cold city; it is a dowdy, fat mother holding forth a friendly interest for the good, bad and indifferent among her sons and daughters.

Sentimentally and esthetically, that was fine. But, while the residents of this district are appreciating it in essence, they hardly feel the emotion as sentimental or esthetic.

And sometimes it was a distinct inconvenience.

Solomon Brady Isaacs, a gentleman of mixed parentage, found that out. Solly had, at one time, been the hope of the ward with his broad street and school education topped by a not-so-broad correspondence course in law which enabled him to skin by the bar examinations.

From his mother Solly inherited a fine mat of red while his father contributed a pudgy form and astute mind. By his own efforts he set up the combination behind a second-hand desk and gold-leaf lettering, "Attorney-at-Law," on the window.

It was a moment of pride to his father when he opened the office and his feelings were shared by the ward, up one block and another. They dutifully brought their paltry law cases to him, were surprised that he expected pay, did not pay him and after some months the landlord found it necessary to carry out eviction proceedings for which case he did not hire Solly.

Solly evacuated the ward in bitter anger and went through a four-year siege as law clerk in a downtown office. There his education broadened to include intimidation and convincing of the lucrative profession of framing alibis and disposing of "hot" bonds; in short, the manipulation of justice—at a price.

He scraped and saved through those years, gathering a clientele, nursing a dream of revenge.

One day in June, when the smella, fruit peels, push-carts, kids and clothes were most evident, Solly returned, preceded by a small man of new furniture which took up the whole second floor of the newly renovated Lowenthal building.

He sat behind curtained windows, grinning down spitefully on the staring faces of erstwhile neighbors. Then he turned on the sallow youth, newly appointed guardian of the outer office.

"All cases from the Ninth ward paid in advance and double rate," the little lawyer instructed savagely. "I'll show 'em. And every afternoon you go out. Find who owes money to which. Get 'em to sue. Make 'em mad. Make Mr. Ginsberg, at the Cash and Karry grocery, collect from everyone who owes him money. Make Silversteins stop giving credit at the warehouse. Scare 'em!"

His eyes blazed viciously.

For six months an insidious influence gnawed at the ward. It was carefully guided and superintended by the red-headed man behind the curtained windows in the Lowenthal building.

"I hear Mr. Ginsberg is having a hard time of it. A bad thing when a family man goes astray."

"Who said that?"

"The boy who works for Solly Isaacs. He let it slip. I know he didn't mean to. He bit his lip, like this."

Bad days, very bad days for the ward with friend against friend, and even odd men Isaacs suspected of handling stolen goods.

In the midst of it the little lawyer watched the growing havoc and expanded his business of aiding criminals through loopholes of law.

His neighbors, unsuspecting victims of his malignant hate, were proud of his comeback. They watched his meteoric rise with wonder, without too great curiosity, but they did watch.

The people on Grimm street knew the back of the Lowenthal building and could see certain alarming figures go in the alley. But why didn't they go in the front way?

As thoughts will rise to murmurs and murmurs rise to official ears, there came a time when the plumbing in the Lowenthal building suddenly stopped and workmen must mess through Solly's private offices, much to his irritation, secretly leaving little hidden transmitters.

Detectives listening from another part of the building, making notes of Solly's indiscretions and sins, were the indirect cause of Mr. Ginsberg shaking his head solemnly before Mrs. Breeden some four months later.

"I hear Solly Isaacs is on bookkeeping at the prison," he said. "You remember, Solly? Of course. Funny about him, a quiet, harmless, nice young fellow. Ah, if he had only known, we might have warned."

"You never can tell, Mr. Ginsberg. Would you mind charging that?"

"Glad to, Mrs. Breeden."

"And I'll be in about the old account on Wednesday."

Mr. Ginsberg smiled, bowed and did not ask which Wednesday.

The ward produced its smella, carts, kids and clothes. Nothing had changed except that Solly Isaacs was "on bookkeeping" at the prison.

Mr. Ginsberg dismissed his sad thoughts abruptly and went back to stacking peaches; carefully turning the bright and rosy sides toward the public.

Fruits and Vegetables Valuable Health Aids

The human body needs minerals and vitamins, the great natural elements for health and growth which are supplied by fruits and vegetables.

Minerals such as iron, calcium, phosphorus, iodine and sulphur have been called the balance wheel of the human machine as they neutralize the acid condition of the blood. They are found in proper combinations and in varying amounts as nature provides them in vegetables and fruits. Spinach, celery and cauliflower are richer in calcium. Strawberries, tomatoes, spinach, cabbage and carrots are good sources of iron. Lettuce and onions provide appreciable amounts of phosphorus.

Vitamins, essential to health, are necessary for growth and protection from disease. Different vitamins are found in various foods. Beans, carrots, apples, tomatoes, spinach, are valuable sources of vitamin A. Cabbage, lettuce, green peas, spinach and tomatoes give vitamin B. Apples, cabbage, peas, strawberries and tomatoes provide vitamin C.

Starch and sugar are found in potatoes, prunes, beets, carrots, corn, peas and beans, and supply fuel for body heat and energy. Legumes (ripe peas, beans and lentils) contain nitrogen and are used for tissue building.

The efficient home-maker knows her proper food to serve her family. She also cooks and serves that food so that it will be eaten, enjoyed and probably more wanted. Fruits present little difficulty in their preparation. Most of them are delicious when served raw and the cooking is simple. Cooked with a small amount of water for as short a time as will make the fruit tender. Add sugar after the fruit is cooked. This preserves natural colors and flavors, and less sugar is required for sweetening. Serve vegetables in their raw state when possible and thus provide the needed nutrients as nature supplies them.

Most vegetables are best cooked in the smallest amount of water which can be used without burning the vegetables or they may be steamed. In the water boiling when the vegetable is put in the pot. Keep it boiling, not simmering and keep closely covered. Salt added during cooking preserves color. Baking without the addition of water is a good method in some cases but is not practicable for many vegetables. To prevent strong flavors as in those of the cabbage family or onion, use a large amount of water in an uncovered vessel and boil for the shortest possible time for tenderness.

Variety in serving from day to day aids in appealing to the appetite. In Canada most of these products in their fresh state are obtainable only during part of the year, so means of storing them will assure an abundant supply throughout all seasons.

Here and There

Five champion stallions, smartly groomed cavalry chargers of the mounted police, racing and poloing horses and mounts trained in jumping and for the hunting field mingle at the village of Montebello, P.Q., on the north shore of the Ottawa, for the annual Selmerdy Club Horse Show which begins during August 15-18, Thursday to Sunday. A musical ride will be put on by the Royal Mounted Police. The event is under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor-General and Canadian and American society folks are expected in large numbers.

Enjoying a short stay at the Banff Springs Hotel on his way to taking up his post in London, His Excellency T. Mackenzie, Japanese Ambassador to Great Britain, stated to an interviewer, "I prefer just to enjoy myself and to forget for a few hours that there are more arduous duties than the contemplation of this lovely place."

Addressing a gathering of the Rotary Club of Victoria, the Emperor Hotel, recently, Premier Joseph A. Lyons, of Australia, pointed to the British Empire as a great force for peace and urged Canada to cultivate a more favorable trade with his country.

Last year, he said, Australia bought from Canada $18,000,000 worth of goods, while Canada bought from Australia only $6,000,000 worth.

The Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, New Brunswick, opened for the summer season at the end of June, and is now the centre of much holiday activity. Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Besborough were among the first guests and the famous Katy's Cove bathing beach is again as in former years very popular with the children and the younger set.

With the increasing popularity of vacation trips on the Great Lakes, the Canadian Pacific has expanded its Great Lakes steamship services to include calls at Port Arthur on westbound voyages as well as eastbound. These ships have been outfitted with deck sports, including quoits, shuffleboard and deck golf. Deck chairs and music bring pleasure to the evening hours. The schedule makes it possible to take an enjoyable week's trip going either way with overnight stops at both ends. For McNicoll and Port William.

The Maritimes are again this year attracting a large number of tourists from Canada and the United States. Across the Bay of Fundy there is a very pleasant steamer trip from Saint John to Digby where the Pines Hotel is located and from Boston to Yarmouth with its well known Lakeside Inn, there are regular sailings. Also the Cornwalis Inn at Kentville is a first-class centre for trips to the famous Evangeline Country around Grand Pre.

August is the peak month at the Banff Springs Hotel when between August 25-31 golf wannabes of the world will compete in the historic Prince of Wales Trophy and the Willingdon Cup. The course, a mile above sea-level and set in the midst of some of the most glorious scenery on the continent, is the locale of the play.

Second Largest City in Peru

On the west coast of South America, Arequipa, the second largest city in Peru, lies 7,700 feet above sea-level in an amphitheater of mountains towering El Misti, a snow-crowned cone of about 15,000 feet in height. It is on the route to Cuzco, famed for its Inca and pre-Inca ruins, and to Lake Titicaca, loftiest navigable waterway in the world. Beyond the lake is La Paz,
