

THE DOG AND THE SHADOW

A dog once walked across a bridge carrying a fine 'cheese in his mouth. When the dog was half-way over the bridge he peered over the side to see only a bigger and better cheese down in the water.

The dog, being greedy, resolved to have both cheeses: his cheese and the larger one (its shadow).

Dog leaped in . . . opened his mouth to reach for the other and dropped his own cheese. Dog recognized the shadow as a shadow. For that shadow and the greed within the dog, he lost his cheese.
