Richard Nagy has what he feels is a great summer job. The MacMaster University student is giving away diet pop as part of the Diet Pepsi Taste Drive. He'll be providing free Diet Pepsi to many Miltonians over the next two weeks.

Taste drive will drop free pop

More than 200 Milton households will be getting something for nothing during the next two weeks. They'll be getting a case of 24 cans of Diet Pepsi. Single cans of the softdrink are also being given away in an attempt by Pepsi to win the diet drink battle. Richard Nagy is the representative for this area and says people have been receptive overall to the Diet Pepsi Taste Drive. Some do wonder if the pop is really free.

The MacMaster University commerce student will hand out thousands of Taste Drive Packs this summer. He's on the road Wednesday to Sunday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. He likes the give-away approach and says it's one of the largest sampling programs to be carried out in Canada.

Some Miltonians will be expecting their free case of diet softdrink. Some samplers are pre-recruited while the remainder are selected randomly by representatives like Richard. He says some of those whose case of pop comes as a surprise are aware of the promotion through advertisements.
