Magic evening will transform downtown Friday

Vehicles will magically disappear from Main Street, merchandise will magically appear on the sidewalks and the sound of music will fill the air.

This is not an illusion, it's the annual downtown Moonlight Magic event sponsored by the Downtown Business Improvement Area (DBIA). The downtown core will become a pedestrian mall Friday June 16 from 7-11 p.m. Although the main attraction is the sidewalk sale, there will be plenty of entertainment.

Moonlight Magic will have a multicultural flavour with several ethnic food booths representing the nations of Great Britain, Italy, Jamaica, the Ukrain and Canada. The Rotary Club of Milton and Milton Jaycees will also be providing refreshments.

"It's going to be a super fun night," said Sandy Martin, manager of the DBIA.

Ukrainian dancers will perform in front of Audrey Meredith Dance Studio at 7:30 p.m. followed by performances by studio students at 8:30 and 9 p.m.

Summer events at Ontario Agricultural Museum will be promoted at a display and Dinty the Clown will keep the crowds amused while riding his unicycle.

Music will be provided by local bands including the Class of '59 at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and Gerry Arpa and the Diamond-backs in front of Papa Nick's. The sounds of the Caribbean can be heard at Bruce Hood's Milton Travel on Martin Street where the Metrotones Steel Band from Toronto will entertain.

Members of the Milton Historical Society will launch their walking tour of historic Milton in conjunction with Moonlight Magic. A booklet has been prepared for this self-guided tour to begin at 7 p.m. at the corner of Main and Martin streets.

The British are coming to The Champion with disc jockey Peter Bell spinning vinyl from the British invasion era of the '60s. Food in keeping with the British theme will also be available at 191 Main St.

The process of closing downtown streets will begin at 6 p.m. Friday.

It's his day

Peter Brown took a free ride at the Halton Radial Railway Museum Sunday when grandparents were given special treatment. The museum, located on Guelph Line, held Grandparents' Day and offered free admission to seniors accompanied by a child. Mr. Brown is shown at one of the street car doors with granddaughter Shannon Brown, 1.
