Barbecued lamb

Spicy kabobs add a twist to summer

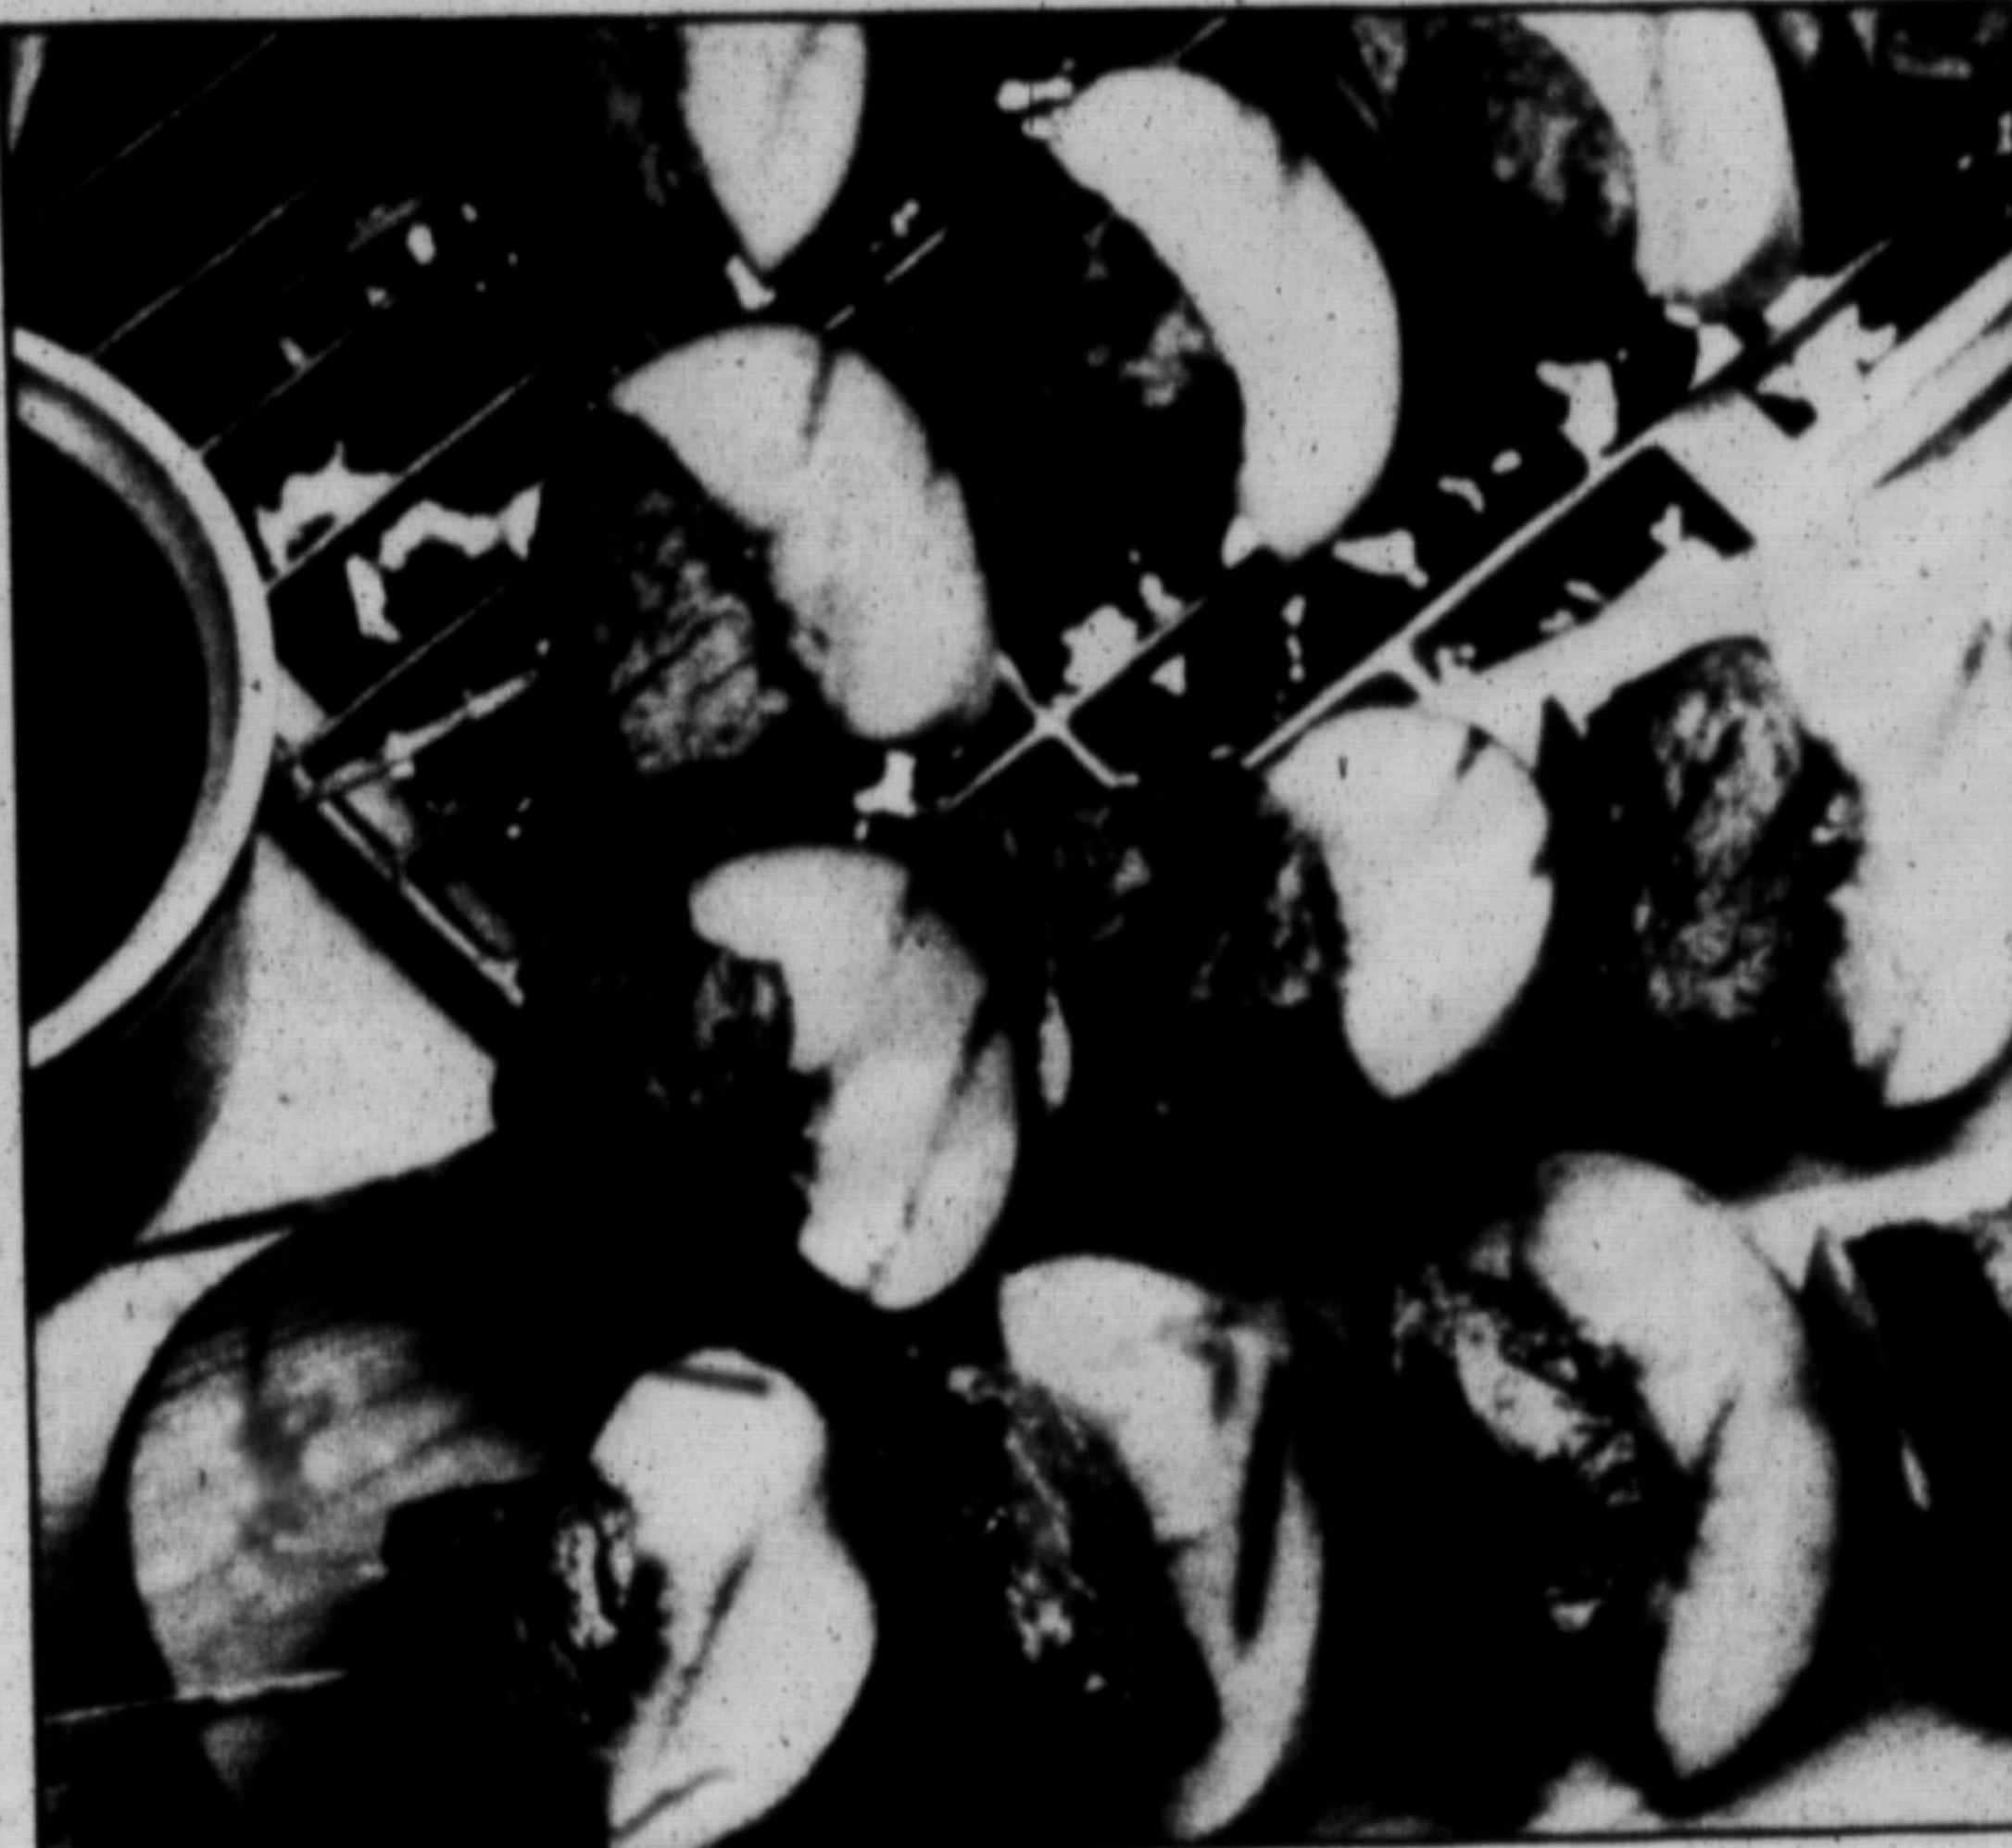

When summertime arrives, outdoor cooking becomes a way of life for many Canadians. Barbecuing allows us to enjoy many different taste sensations and we're constantly discovering new flavourful treats on the grill. One of the most delicious and versatile of these is lamb. Lean New Zealand spring lamb takes kindly to the pungent, smokey flavors coals impart and any cut can be used to advantage.

Spicy, marinated kabobs using economical boneless shoulder are easy to prepare and make delicious treats for a fun family supper or casual party. They take minutes to cook and can be served with fresh sugar snow peas. Moist and juicy, kabobs look and taste terrific with wedges of seasonal fruit and vegetables added.

Hoisin Orange Lamb Kabobs

A simple marinade lends an exotic flavor and tender succulence to an inexpensive lamb shoulder. The kabobs also look terrific with wedges of seasonal fruit on a bed of orange rice flecked with bits of coriander or parsley.

- 1 1/2 lb (750 gm) New Zealand Spring Lamb shoulder, defrosted;
- 1/4 cup (50 ml) hoisin sauce;
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) orange rind, finely grated;
- 1/4 cup (50 ml) fresh orange juice;
- 2 tbsp (30 ml) sherry or rice wine;
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) fresh gingerroot,

Barbecuers can add a new twist to their summer fare if they put some lamb on the barbecue. These kabobs use a marinated sauce which everyone will like.

- minced;
 - 1 clove garlic, minced;
 - 3 nectarines or peaches or combination (in wedges);
 - 1 sweet red or green pepper;
- Directions: Trim and cut lamb into one-inch (2.5 cm) cubes. In small bowl, stir together hoisin sauce, orange rind, orange juice, sherry, gingerroot and garlic. Add lamb cubes and stir gently to coat evenly. Cover and refrigerate at least eight hours or overnight, stirring occasionally. Bring out to room temperature about 45 minutes before barbecuing.

Reserving - marinades, thread lamb, fruit and pepper pieces alternately onto oiled sharp skewers. Place on clean, greased grill four inches (10 cm) from hot coals or on medium high to high setting. Grill for eight to 10 minutes, turning often and brushing with reserved marinade.

Makes four servings.

FIRST TIME HOME BUYERS - Tired of renting? Want to own your own home? Having trouble getting the down payment together? If you've answered yes to the above and if you qualify, I may be able to help!
