Visiting brass stops by SKD

A Milton company recently received a visit from top management of CAMI Automotive Inc.

A producer of automotive metal stampings and modular assemblies, SKD Company on Wheelabrator Way, hosted the visit from the Ingersoll company Tuesday morning.

SKD Company, part of an international supplier family, manufactures and assembles 14 components for CAMI's new four-wheel drive Suzuki Sidekick/Chevrolet Tracker sport utility vehicle, including suspension control arms, engine cross members, spare tire carriers and front headlamp supports.

CAMI Automotive began production of the new vehicle at its plant in April. The vehicle is now available at Canadian car dealerships. A future passenger car is also scheduled for production in October. SKD Company will also supply components for that vehicle.
