Milton an information mecca?

If you drive into Milton in the future, people might tell you where to go.

That's if a proposal passed by municipal council's general committee Monday night bears fruit. Councillors approved a plan that will see town staff and the Milton Chamber of Commerce approach the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation about building a tourism information centre in Milton.

"At this stage all we're interested in is making a proposal, a pitch," town administrator Roy Main said. Four potential sites have been identified, including the Chamber of Commerce's current information centre north of Steeles Avenue off Ontario Street.

"An opportunity like this doesn't come along too often," said Ward 2 councillor Brad Clements. Except for service station kiosks which he said are often unmanned, councillor Clements noted that such a facility "would be the only one on the 401 between Sarnia and Toronto."

Councillor Les Laughren voiced concerns about how much the project, if approved, would end up costing the town.

Mayor Gord Krantz said, "it is not my intention it cost the town any money. It would not have gotten my support if it was going to cost hundreds of thousands of dollars. There might be a small investment (by the town) but we will get it back quickly," Mr. Krantz said.

Such a facility is seen as a major boom to the host municipality because once tourists are off the highway they will probably spend some time and money in the community.

The information centre had been planned for Mississauga, but high land prices forced the ministry to scrub that plan.

VON steps up foot care program

The Victorian Order of Nurses is expanding its foot care program to respond to the needs of north Halton.

Foot care clinics will be held at Milton Community and Information Services in the Optimist Centre, 311 Commercial St.

Nurses assess each client's needs and treat thickened or deformed nails, corns, callouses and other problems. Clients also learn how to manage their own foot care whenever possible. The location of the clinics is wheelchair accessible.

Call 878-4756 for an appointment. The cost is $15.
