

Create a Beautiful & Edible Landscape

Gardeners and gourmet cooks alike can benefit from growing plants which taste as good as they look. Landscaping with vegetables is ideal because these edible plants are as easy to grow as flowers and can be just as lovely. The lush, green vegetation will make a pretty sight all season long while the leaves, blossoms and fruits add color and texture to the yard and dinner table.

Revered as one of the best sources of vitamins, home grown vegetables are healthier and tastier than supermarket varieties because they can be picked at the peak of freshness and homeowners can avoid the harmful pesticides and chemicals used by commercial growers.

Preparing the Garden Bed

Sunlight and good soil are essential ingredients for a healthy garden. Ensure a bountiful harvest by choosing a site which receives about seven hours of sunlight a day and by properly preparing the soil to Create a landscape that looks as good as it tastes by planting asparagus with nasturtiums to make a flowerbed-like vegetable garden. These lush and lovely edibles will thrive in soil conditioned with Canadian Sphagnum Peat Moss.

provide vegetables with a hospitable growth environment.

Vegetables require earth which consists of at least one-third organic material, such as Canadian Sphagnum Peat Moss. This all-natural soil conditioner binds sandy soils to prevent the leaching of water and nutrients and it loosens clay soils for better drainage and root penetration. It can retain 20 times its weight in water and will slowly release water and stored nutrients to the roots. Canadian Peat's predictable pH level of 3.4 to 4.8 is also beneficial because vegetables prefer a moderately acidic garden bed.

For best results, moisten the Canadian Peat overnight to activate its sponge-like capabilities. Simply bring the bale to the planting site, open it at the stapled end or

CAN YOU SPOT THE CABLES BURIED UNDER THIS FIELD?

Are there underground cables running along the fence? Or somewhere near the barn? Maybe they stretch right across the field. The fact is, you can't tell where they are, either in this picture or in real life.

That's why it's so important to call before you dig. Striking a buried cable could cut off power to you and your whole neighbourhood.

In the worst case, hitting a cable could be fatal. So please, before you dig, call us. We know exactly where the hydro cables are buried.

And we'll tell you quickly so you can get on with your job safely.
