E. C. Drury students go cajun

E.C. Drury High School students were humming jazzy beats and savoring the aftertaste of cajun cooking when they returned from their trip to New Orleans last week.

From May 9 through 13, more than 50 students trekked to the Louisiana jazz capital to play their music for the locals. The school concert band and choir played three concerts.

As 18 year old clarinet player Bill Jenkins explains, "we went to hear jazz and to go back to the roots of modern day music". Music teacher David Stothart adds, "we went for fun of course, and the educational experience of the unique culture of New Orleans."

When the students were not performing they visited local attractions, including, the French Quarter, a plantation and a zoo. Some brave students even decided to sample the spicy local cajun cuisine. A highlight for many was the opportunity to relax on a river-boat cruise.

Teachers honoured

Today (Friday) the Halton Roman Catholic School Board will honor staff members who have served the board for 25 years as well as those who will soon be retiring.

One Milton teacher will be among the eight retirees to be recognized at the reception at Notre Dame Secondary School in Burlington. Norma Hadlow of St. Peter's School will be presented with commemorative gifts in recognition of her significant contribution, enthusiasm and commitment to Catholic education in Halton.
