Waiting for 1991

By BRAD REAUME

The hurting has finally stopped. With a pair of losses, 11-2 to Oakville and 10-8 to Burlington, the Red Sox, Milton's senior entry in the Central Ontario Baseball Association, can lay their 1990 season to rest.

With only four wins in 27 games the Milton squad will either let 1990 fade into the shadowy mists of distant and indistinct memory or they will use it as a rallying cry, a call to arms in future campaigns.

There were some positive aspects to the ordeal.

Milton won its first ever Campbellville Tournament, five rookies won't be in 1991, and losing eight games by one run isn't likely to happen again.

The play of catcher Doug Dunn was superb as was the pitching of former Milton junior Al Dairou. Doug Timbers had a solid year both on and off the field and George Moore pitched well.

"We've got something to build on," said Red Sox player/manager Glen Turner. "Now we've got the experience, so we'll have to build on the confidence part. The Campbellville Tournament proved something to us, but we have to build on it."

"I've looked at things and in short we received decent pitching, had poor defence and below average hitting," Turner said. "That's the long and the short of the whole season."

Turner particularly keyed on the defensive miscues by the infield and the team's lack of offensive punch. He said that some of the players had problems with senior baseball, either by taking it too lightly or by being satisfied with their performance.

"Some guys would be satisfied with one hit in four at bats," said and incredulous Turner. "You should never be satisfied. Anything can be improved upon."

"I thought we had the perfect blend of guys," Turner said. "We had experience and youth and a group of five and six year veterans to pull the two groups together."

Turner says everyone is committed to returning. He admits that some new players need to be found to fill specific roles, like a back-up shortstop, but he seems to think that the year of experience will help the 1991 sophomores play to a higher level.

Imports win

Boys under 13 soccer crowned Milton Import Car Centre league champions on Saturday with a win in penalty kicks over Midas Muffler.

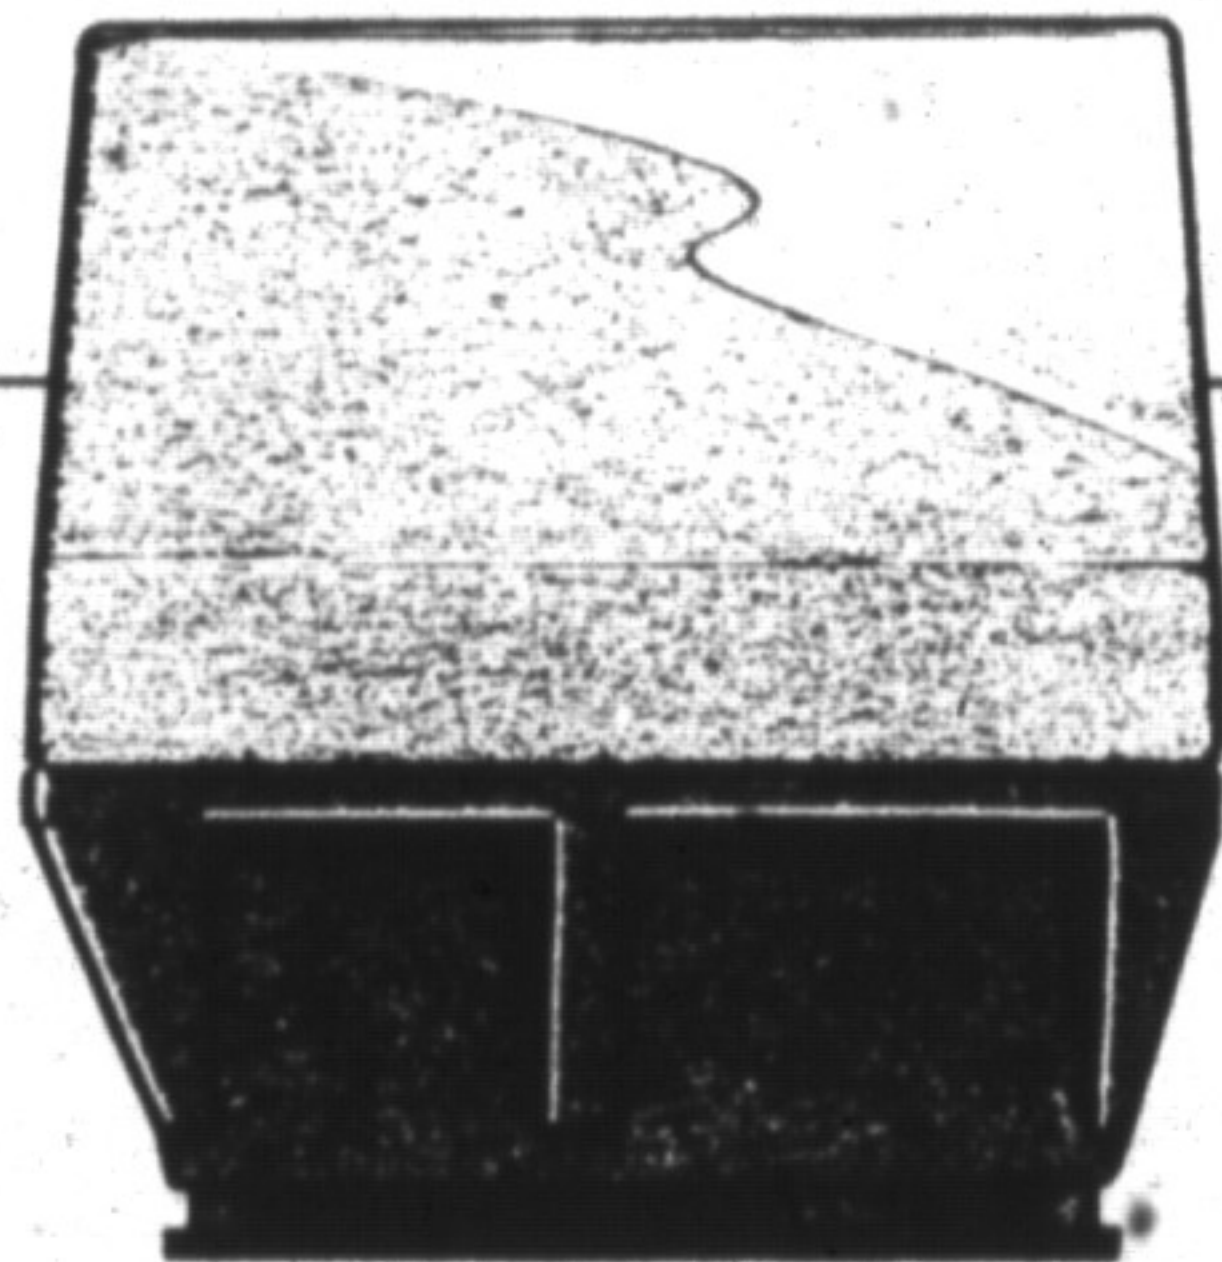

Final league standings were topped by Milton Imports. Despite a late, spirited challenge for first place by Peoples Furniture, which beat Import 3-1 in the final game of the regular season, Import hung on to the title.

Ontario Pallett and Midas Muffler remained in contention during the season managing to beat the top teams on occasion. La Rose, and Wing Dings were often hot but found it hard to come up with consistent wins however their hard work often won dividends over the first place teams.

Playoffs were extremely competitive with teams split into two divisions with each team playing a round of three games.

Semifinals saw Ontario Pallett playing Midas Muffler and Milton Imports playing Peoples Furniture. Midas and Imports, which had lost only four times all season, advanced to the final.
