

Dairy Princess ready for regal role

By KAREN SMITH

Halton has a new Dairy Princess, Jennifer Livock of Oakville has taken the reign.

The excited Grade 13 student at White Oaks Secondary School was crowned October 26.

The daughter of Jim and Liz Livock who operate a dairy farm on Sixth Line, Jennifer has been an active Halton 4-H Club member completing 30 projects. She has also served in all executive positions.

Jennifer replaces last year's Dairy Princess, Sandi Brander. The two are good friends. Sandi offered a little advice to Jennifer. "She just mainly said to enjoy my reign."

The 19-year-old said she believes the rewards of the crown will come with the people she meets.

"I'm looking forward to working with school kids and teaching them about the dairy industry," she said.

Jennifer seems to be an ideal candidate for Dairy Princess. Her hobbies and interests include the dairy industry — especially showing Jersey cows. Her family has been raising them for 50 years.

Her first appearance in the crown will be at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. This time though, she will be judging cows instead of showing them.

Other upcoming functions will include the Milton Santa Claus Parade. Her presence will also be requested at fall fairs, and she will be asked to give talks on various subjects.

The Halton crown also comes with a chance to become the Ontario Dairy Princess. That competition will be held next August at the Canadian National Exhibition. The winner will receive an opportunity to work with the Ontario Milk Marketing Board.

Next fall, Jennifer hopes to attend the University of Guelph to obtain a bachelor of commerce degree in agricultural business.

Eventually, she would like to have a career in the public relations field.

"But I want to keep one foot in agriculture," Jennifer said. "It has been a major part of my life."
