Recession slumping sales of Girl Guide cookies

The local Guiding movement is feeling the effects of bad economic times.

So far, the traditional cookies sales, which began earlier this month, have been slow, said a spokesperson from the organization.

The problem is being blamed on the recession. Because more people are tightly budgeting their money, treats like cookies are being knocked off the grocery lists.

Because selling cookies is the major fundraising drive of the year for Sparks, Brownies, Guides and Pathfinders, Guiding officials are hoping sales will pick up.

February is a busy month for the more than 500 Milton girls involved in Guiding.

All five of the local Guiding districts are also planning activities in celebration of another significant event this month—Thinking Day Saturday, Feb. 22.

The special day is the birthday of the founder of Guiding, Lady Baden Powell and her husband Lord Baden Powell, who started the Scouting movement.

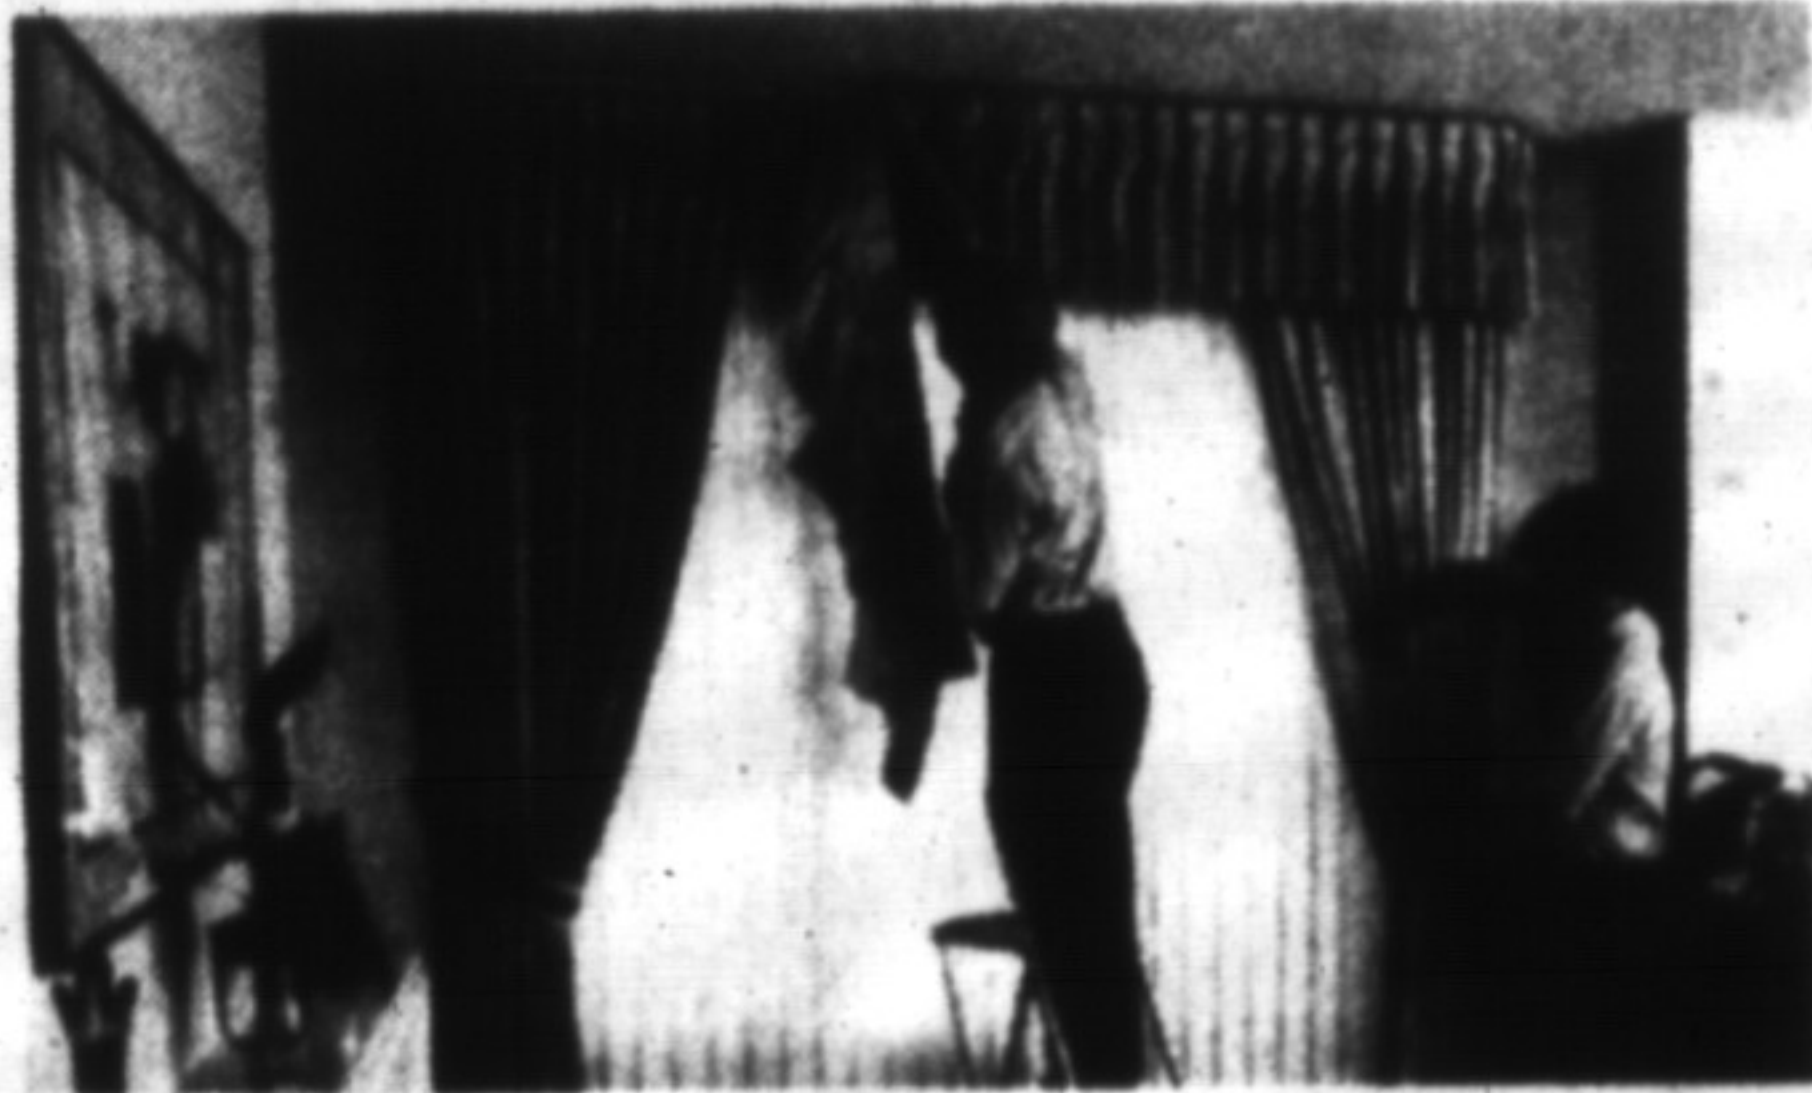

The famous cookie campaign continues until Saturday, Feb. 22. Cookies will be sold at Milton Mall until that time.
