Golf for mental health

Some people would argue that golf is the last thing a person needs for mental health, but duffers and scratch players alike are invited to take part in a tournament sponsored by the Halton branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association (CMHA).

The Tuesday, June 16 tournament will be held at the Carlisle Golf and Country Club, on Carlisle Road near the juncture of Highway 401 and Highway 6.

The par-72 course features 3,000 mature pine trees lining the 18 bent grass fairways. Four large ponds are strategically placed to test the golfer's mettle and 65 bunkers guard various holes.

The tournament cost is $90 and golfers will receive a charitable tax receipt. The Halton branch of the CMHA provides various support services and education geared toward enhancing mental health.

For further information, or to register, call the association at 845-5044 in Oakville or 853-4477 in Acton.
