

Clara Price is much too busy to feel and act 90

By KAREN SMITH
The Champion

At the age of 90, Clara Price is a member of a lawn bowling team, plays shuffleboard, and is actively involved with the local seniors' centre. The life-long resident of the town has something to do every day of the week, except Saturday when she decides to take a breather. "I'm not going to leave until they carry me out, one way or the other,"

says Mrs. Price, who enjoys her Milton home on Bronte Street. The active senior celebrates her birthday today. She was born on the family farm which was located at Derry and Thompson roads, then No. 10 Sideroad and Third Line.

Mrs. Price attended Bruce Street School. She farmed for many years on Fifth Line in the old Trafalgar Township with her husband Ernest Price, who passed away in 1972. She moved to her Bronte Street apartment three years later.

Her former home on Fifth Line was once considered rural Oakville, but is now part of Milton.

"I've seen a lot of changes (in Milton)," she adds. "I don't know if they're good or bad."

The accomplished musician is well-known in the community for her work at St. Stephen's Anglican Church where she played the organ.

She has been involved with the Anglican Church Women (ACW) and Hornby Women's Institute, and was on the executive of the Senior Citizens Club 88. Today, Mrs. Price is a popular member of Grace Anglican Church.

For recreation, she enjoys playing euchre and shuffleboard, and was a member of a lawn bowling team this past summer.

Mrs. Price says she isn't sure how it feels to be 90, but that's probably because she doesn't act her age.

"We've kept her too busy to even think about it this past week," says her daughter Verna Wilson of Campbellville.

Family and friends helped Mrs. Price celebrate her birthday at the Royal Canadian Legion Sunday. Her other daughter Charlene Bryan of Laurel, son Earl Price of Angus, and their families, as well as many friends made it to the party.

Mrs. Price, who has eight grandchildren and as many great grandchildren, isn't concerned whether or not she lives to be 100. "I just live one day at a time," she says.

Clara Price, who has lived in Milton all her life, turned 90 years old today. She keeps active playing euchre, shuffleboard and lawn bowling, and also enjoys relaxing with a crossword puzzle.
